Challenges filed in county race

by MARY FOLEY
Lakeland Newspapers

An objection has been filed at the board of elections concerning the legality of a number of signatures on the petition of Kenneth Domanchuk, Republican candidate for Lake County Board for Antioch Dist. 1. On Monday, seven of the signatures were ruled ineligible because they were unregistered voters in the district.

Chris Peters, who has made the challenge, with her attorney Robert Long, will return to the 10th floor of the Lake County Courthouse on Monday with a forensic handwriting analyst. Peters is contesting an additional six signatures.

"I just want to see a fair race," explains Peters. "If a person is interested in running, why not do it the right way?"

Domanchuk had obtained a total of 45 signatures. With seven of them already ineligible, he is left with 38, which is three over the needed 35. If Peters' challenge is successful, Domanchuk would have to drop out of the race entirely.

"The judges felt it was a tough call," said Peters. "The board did not know how to rule and they said the principals should be brought in. We will be bringing in our handwriting analyst."

Domanchuk was unavailable for comment.

Reward offered in Loon Lake Landing fire

by MARY FOLEY
Lakeland Newspapers

A $5,000 reward is being offered by the owner of Loon Lake Landing Restaurant, Joel Kennedy, for information leading to the arrest and conviction of person(s) responsible for the Nov. 30 fire. The fire, which was discovered at about 6 a.m. completely destroyed the restaurant.

However, the fire has not yet been ruled arson despite reports to the contrary and the numerous signs which were posted around the property. The restaurant was located off Grass Lake Road near Route 83 in Antioch Township.

"We are still working with the ATF (Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms) and the Lake County Sheriff's Office," said an Antioch Fire Department representative. "All of the test results have not been completed."

Fire officials are expecting the results of the investigation to be complete after the first of the year. At that time, a final determination will be made concerning the cause of the blaze. Federal ATF agents are involved because the restaurant served alcohol and the Antioch Fire Department is involved in a task force which includes the ATF.

The reward is separate and apart from the reward of $10,000 under the Illinois Arson Award Program. Anyone with information should contact the Lake County Sheriff's Department at 360-6300. Antioch Fire Department officials were unaware of the reward offering and seemed surprised by the pre-emptive action.

Waterway officials fear lower levels on Chain

by TINA L. SWECH
Lakeland Newspapers

What is a drop in the water level, may be more than just the usual "drawdown," according to at least one concerned waterway agency official.

Chain O' Lakes Fox River Waterway Agency Director Wayne Blake and resident Pete Jakstas of the Mineola Hotel and Marina have questions about what they claim is a reduction in the water—enough to cause possible harm to flora and fauna, as well as to seawalls.

Frank Novak, lockmaster for the Illinois Department of Transportation's division of water resources, said the department maintains an 18-inch drawdown through the winter months.

Blake and Jakstas believe the drawdown is at least 10 inches below that.

They say the water is low throughout the Chain, but is especially noticeable in the Squaw Creek Channel.

But Novak still affirms his belief, "It's not exceptionally low. If the water is too high in the winter, it is a problem," said Novak. "We've had this before."

The IDOT water resource department doesn't want a repeat of last year's episode. "There have been talks of past elimination of the winter drawdown, but it's good flood control," Novak stated.

Blake said, "I think they're all nervous and trying to control Mother Nature. They do take a lot of flack when it floods."

Novak, speaking for IDOT, maintains he doesn't see a problem with it causing any damage, but agrees there are those who are concerned.

"I've seen very little with the seawalls."

If they're properly built, there should be no effect," Novak said. Blake believes if damage occurs, it could be in the area of thousands of dollars, and said that it would be caused by heaving seawalls that are basically being pushed back and forth against an unusually low level of water.

"We monitor these levels 365 days a year," the lockmaster explained.

Karen Kabbes, executive director for the waterway agency, agreed with the concerns she's heard. SAMP (special area management plan agency) has also expressed worries about possible seawall and environmental damage.

"There is some concern that the drawdown may cause erosion, and effect the lotus beds in the area," Kabbes said.

The executive director explained that the Chain O' Lakes Waterway Agency has asked the state and the U.S. Army Corps to look into the environmental impact of the winter drawdown but, "they both

Back pay returned after months of discussions

KILDEER—“We are happy to say that as 1993 comes to a close, so has the issue of back pay,” Village President Barbara Schwietert declared after the village administrator returned close to $8,500, the net pay she received for back sick and vacation days she had accumulated. Laurel C. Schreiber deposited $8,426.02 into village accounts Dec. 24, three days before her attorney, William J. Provenzano accepted the village board’s agreement which was approved after six months of heated board discussions. Of the 109.5 days returned, Schreiber will receive payment for 44 vacation days upon her separation from the village. The 57.5 sick days will have to be used for sick time.

Lincolnshire makes own bid for Half Day

LINCOLNSHIRE—The Village of Lincolnshire issued a collective “no comment” regarding whether it would move to annex the Half Day property annexed by the village of Vernon Hills three weeks ago. The tug of war between the villages may officially kick off Jan. 3 when the Lincolnshire Village Board decides whether to annex 45-acres of land, including the important intersection of Route 45 and Route 21. The village of Lincolnshire issued a statement on Christmas Eve advising that the village contemplated annexing the property. Mayor Barbara LaPiana, several members of the village staff and trustees who could be contacted refused to comment on the board’s anticipated action except to say “wait and see.”

Libertyville paintings recovered in Chicago

LIBERTYVILLE—Several expensive paintings taken from an art gallery in Libertyville were recovered this week by the Chicago Police Department in conjunction with the Libertyville Police Department and the Harwood Heights Police Department. The Chicago Police Department arrested Grazyna Fiszer, 4629 N. Sayre, Harwood Heights and charged her with possession of stolen property. The recovered art work is valued at $40,000 according to Libertyville detective Brian Budy.

Boy returns stolen money to police

HAINESVILLE—What the mayor of Hainesville called “a perfect example of community policing,” has been the basis for a 12-year-old village boy’s good sense to return a stolen chunk of money. Three village stores on Rte. 120 were broken into and burglarized a few weeks ago, and apparently the offender, or one of them, threw a bag of money along with register receipts from the “Brick Kitchen” into a field out back. Twelve-year-old Hainesville resident Jake Kosmach was playing in the field when he discovered the item with $200 cash in it. “The first thing that surprised me, was that he called his mother at work,” said village Police Chief Joseph Policky. “And the second thing was that his mom told him to call me.”

Hwy. commissioner explains newsletter

LAKE VILLA TOWNSHIP—Jim Semmerling, highway commissioner, sent out a newsletter to township residents saying he doesn’t have sufficient overtime funds in the budget to last until April. He said the labor was cut from his budget and he only has the funds to plow from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. Lindenhurst Trustee James Betustak said Semmerling asked for a 15 percent increase in salaries and didn’t justify the increase to the township board. Betustak said Semmerling has a provision to amend the budget if it’s necessary.

Village mourns loss of former trustee Rohling

MUNDELEIN—A memorial service honoring former Mundelein trustee Ralph K. Rohling will be held at 10:30 a.m. Jan. 2 at Santa Maria Del Popolo church, 116 N. Lake St. Rohling, 69, died of cancer Dec. 21 while visiting relatives in Fountain Hills, Arizona. Burial was Dec. 30 in Las Meson, Iowa, where he grew up.

Police chief target of board probe

ROUND LAKE BEACH—Chief Richard Jablonski is under investigation by the village board because of allegations made by the Fraternal Order of Police, the police union and a 19-2 vote of no-confidence of the police chief. Jablonski said he is trying to run a professional police department and some of the officers don’t appreciate his approach. Mayor Ralph Davis supported Jablonski. Union officials wouldn’t comment on actions they are going to take.

Unit school backers ponder boundaries

GURNEE—Just where the eastern boundary would be for a proposed unit school district for Lake Villa township could be an important element in shaping the proposed district. Backers of the unit district, Joanne and Bob Osmond, appeared before the Warren Township High Board Monday.

FBI nabs four Lake County residents

LAKE COUNTY—The FBI, last week, announced 39 unrelated indictments and criminal informations, charging 43 defendants with crimes against a total of 35 federally insured lending institutions and a mortgage company. Two of the defendants reside in Vernon Hills, one in Lake Forest, and another in Antioch. Six of the affected banks have branch offices in Lake County.

Patriot pep squads head south for Sugar Bowl

LINCOLNSHIRE—More than 40 members of the cheerleaders and poms from Stevenson High School left for New Orleans Dec. 29 to prepare for two performances at the Sugar Bowl game Jan. 1. They will be featured performers in the pre-game and half-time shows and plan to make time for some social events and sightseeing.

Village meets deadline for completing sewers

LAKE ZURICH—The village had one day to spare before the Dec. 24 completion date of laying lines for its sewer interceptor project completed late last week, with only testing and restoration work to take place. The interceptor will pump sewage directly to the Lake County Sewer Treatment Center and put the village sewer plant out of business. Officials will determine the fate of the sewer plant property sometime in 1994. Not including the $5 million the village paid to the county in 1990 to tap into its system, the whole project should cost around $18 million, with some of that being paid for with grants. A mid-January ceremony is being planned.

SAVE YOUR FAMILY TIME AND MONEY

Do you know what “probate” is? It is the court process by which debts are paid and assets are distributed to heirs.

In Illinois, probate is required when the assets total over $50,000. The probate process can be quite costly, reducing the amount of assets that heirs receive. Attorney’s fees, court costs and executor’s fees can reduce assets that go to the heirs by as much as 10%. There is also a time delay, because the minimum amount of time that an estate would be tied up in probate court in Illinois is six months, but normally probate takes nine to twelve months, and sometimes longer.

What can you do now so that your loved ones can avoid the costly and frustrating probate process? You can attend a FREE ESTATE PLANNING SEMINAR and learn how a living trust can work for your family. A living trust can be defined in simple terms as a will substitute, one that allows your heirs to avoid meeting a probate judge. As the trustee (financial manager) of your trust, you can continue to do the same things you did before the trust existed, such as buy, sell, or give away the trusts’ assets. You set up your living trust according to your desires. You are in complete control.

When you consider the cost of a will and the fees involved in probate, as compared to setting up a living trust, the trust is a much more reasonable choice. It saves not only money, but time. Your heirs will not have to wait six, nine, or twelve months to receive what you have left them.

Yucky tea

I am responding to the person who got bad ice tea. That person obviously got their tea at the same place I did. I ordered some with my food and it stunk up my whole car. It was awful.

Just get away

This is to "Can't get away from cars." Grayslake can't get away from you. Rockenbach was here a long time before you moved into town. I have lived here for 30 years and you should have seen what it was like. You moved up here to get away from cars? Well, you are the car that I moved up here to get away from.

Thanks

I want to thank all the staff at the Walgreens in Fox Lake. Thank you for putting up with us and making our Walgreens the best place to shop.

Hoorah

Lipservice was just filled this week with things about the Lake Villa Police Department. I need to tell you that I have been a Lake Villa resident for most of my life. But, after the last few years when I moved back here, from a high crime area, it is nice to know we have this police department. If there is not a lot of crime to report, hip-hip-hoorah.

Better them than you

I am a young person. I would rather see animals used in medical research than to become an older person and have medical science fail to advance. I know that when the "not an animal rights whacko" turns 80 they will be thankful to the animals that saved their life.

Yeah, right

This is to the loser who claims they saw Elvis at the Vault. Get a life. However, I did see Paul McCartney at the Jenson House Restaurant. Thats right, he was dining there with Ringo, George, and John. They are planning a reunion.

Saw vandalism

I want to report some hoodlums that were damaging some cars on Route 59 towards Antioch. Our car was egged and sticks and rocks were thrown at it. The field these objects were thrown from was Bald Eagle. Drivers watch out.

No meat

I thought you said Lipservice prints everything. You left out the meat of my message.

Editorial note: Dear reader, your message was rather lengthy and it would be more appropriate as a letter to the editor.

Thinks we're stupid

I am calling about the Fox Lake edition of the paper. On page 5, you have an article about the fire fighters getting extra training. You state that they work with the Association of Tobacco and Firearms. I hate to tell you this but it is the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms. After what happened in Waco where brave agents lost their lives, you would think that the newspaper should know the name of that agency. Please print this so that everyone will know how truly ignorant some individuals are. By the way, get a spellcheck. The spelling in your newspaper is terrible. And you call yourselves journalists!

Editorial note: Dear reader, we apologize for the inadvertent error. However, there is no need to get nasty about it! Glad to see you are so full of Christmas cheer, NOT.

Not running

This is Harry Brown calling. I have read a few of your Lipservice columns endorsing me for undersheriff. First of all, I want to say that I have no interest in becoming undersheriff, although I believe I am highly qualified. I endorse both Clint and Ed, I think they are both qualified. While I appreciate the support of those who called in, I do not have any interest in becoming undersheriff.

Gloom patrol

This is to "Happy pagan holiday." The church has been lying to us for centuries. The holiday now known as Christmas and its symbology is taken directly from the pagans. Another popular holiday, Easter, is taken from the pagans. Most Christians are not educated in these matters. Everybody, Christian and non-Christian needs to open their eyes to the real truth of Christianity as practiced today, which is primarily based on lies.

Charity begins at home

I am from Lake Zurich and want to respond to the animal fur lover. Maybe that woman who has three fur coats and is waiting for her fourth should take the money spent on coats and put it towards some worthy charity. Especially since she mentioned that animal lovers should find another cause like the homeless.

Happy resident

I would like to applaud Ralph Davis, the way Cedar Lake is being done, and the drainage situation is being handled. I want to wish them all a very Merry Christmas and a happy New Years.

Snowed under

To all the Lake Villa residents that voted for Mr. Semmerling, you all deserve to be snowed in. We had a chance to get rid of him and you wanted him back. What I read about him in the paper has me fuming mad.

Peace, man

You people should leave Bevis and Butt-head alone. And, don't rip on pot so much. If you want to smoke it, smoke it. But, keep it quiet. Peace, man.

Good use

This is to the woman who said she could not wait to get her fourth fur. Why don't you put those coats to good use and sell them for money to donate to the homeless. Then, at least those animals did not die in vain.

Out of the dark

Using animals for medical research is outdated and unreliable. Animals are not the same as humans. There are now more sophisticated methods of testing drugs. This is the 90s. Get out of the dark ages.

Merry Christmas

This is to my brother John. Merry Christmas and I love you. I am sorry I cannot be with you this holiday season, but for reasons unknown to me I cannot be with you.

Read Rush

I think more attention should be paid to Mr. Clinton's antics. And, more people should be reading Rush Limbaugh's books.

Move the numbers

I enjoy the Round Lake News immensely. But, why is the page number on the bottom instead of the top where it would be easier to find?

Editorial note: Dear reader, Glad you asked this one! Watch the paper in the next few weeks for a whole new look. Putting the page numbers on the top is just one of the many changes coming your way.

Cut it out

This is the Radio Pirate. If I catch anyone bothering Sniper, they will have their co-ax cut. Watch your mouths!

Not a man

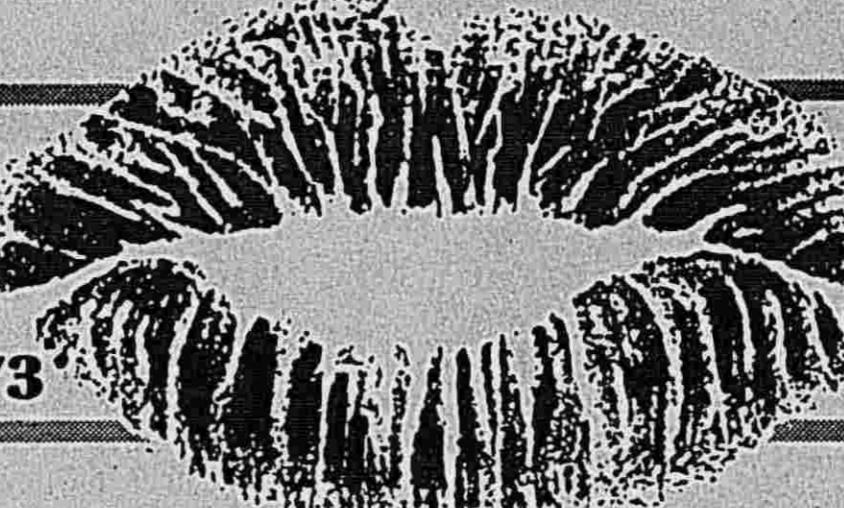

"Younger man", if you were really a man you would have left your handle. By the way, I am not 11, I am 14!

Their fault

They are asking us to vote for another referendum this April. But, they are not wisely using the money they already have. Is it our responsibility?

Surprised

I am surprised that you are supporting the notion that Country Lanes Estates is in Wadsworth. That subdivision is a Waukegan subdivision. And, show me a lake. There used to be an old gravel pit. But, there is no lake. Country Lanes has applied for a Wadsworth postal address because they are ashamed to say they are in Waukegan.

Pay and save

If Grayslake High School as well as other schools would pay the tuition to send students who wished to private schools, there would be no overcrowding and money would be saved.

Grinch was there

This is to the people who thought it was fun to break Christmas bulbs in my Grayslake driveway. Maybe you will think twice when it is your turn to pick glass out of the snow so that your children can play outside. Or, maybe if it was your little brother or sister that got cut.

Dear Lipservice, you have done many things for the public with your wonderful idea. People need to know that there are people who care and your column has done that. It also gives them hope. I think that you should have one page for the good results of the column where it has solved some of the problems. Otherwise you have not accomplished anything. PS: I will order a subscription because of the Lipservice column.

Editorial note: Dear reader, We thank you for your compliment. It would probably be rather boastful to print a "list of accomplishments." We would rather remain a quiet contributor and help whenever we can. However, we look forward to you joining the ranks of subscribers.

No pay, good work

If the person who wrote "Crimeless" did any research, they would know that the Lake Villa Policemen are very poorly paid. And, why complain about no crime? Maybe they are doing their job really well.

Secret crime

I am calling in response to "Crimeless". This person must be a misinformed Lake Villa resident. The reason there are no crime reports for Lake Villa is that the stuck up residents with their $300,000 homes do not want anyone to know that crime actually does occur in Lake Villa. Even in their own back yards. Just last week the Lake Villa police responded to rape, a stabbing, and a possible hostage situation, criminal damage to property, domestic disturbances, open doors, and prowler calls. So far this year they have handled 3,500 calls. Police officers here have done an excellent job handling all of these calls. Who will handle these calls for Mr. No Crime if we eliminate officers. These reports are public knowledge. If he is so concerned he should get off his couch and not rely on the newspapers.

Thank you

Two ladies who deserve a well done are Irene Dougherty and Gwen Kruebech for their outstanding job they do. They clean and maintain the kitchen and cooking equipment for the Fox Lake Community Center. Well done and thank you.

Ice fishing report

According to James Redfern of North American Taxidermy, ice fishing in the Northern end of the Chain O' Lakes is picking up. He reports that as of Tuesday, there was about five inches of ice on Channel and Lake Catherine. So far, fisherman have pulled out some blue gills, stripers, three muskies, and a beautiful walleye. Redfern is expecting a lively New Years weekend with the improvement in the economy and some "good ice." However, Redfern was quick to warn sportsmen to stay off of the ice in the channels. "The ice is poor in the channels all year long." Redfern says it is safe to head out on the ice on foot, but does not think it is safe yet for snowmobiles.

BEST riled by signature mistake

by MARY FOLEY

Lakeland Newspapers

Better Education Sensible Taxes (BEST) has obtained a copy of the 1992, '93, and '94 Collective Bargaining Agreement between the Board of Education at Antioch Community High School and the teachers union. On the final page, BEST members noted that board member Joanne Osmond signed on the space entitled "Secretary, Antioch Education Association," which is the union.

Not knowing the reason for this signature, BEST members speculated that a case could be made for a conflict of interest. If Osmond was both a member of the school board and a member of the teachers union, she would have been privy to a number of items that would have been helpful in the union's negotiations on behalf of the teachers.

However, it appears that it was simply a mistake. According to Dr. Michael Radakovich, principal of Antioch Community High School, Osmond mistakenly signed the document. The contract negotiations had been opened up nine months prior to the execution of the document. Glenn Moore, the former president of the school board and Laurel Dahl, the former secretary of the board were required to sign the document.

Osmond, who had just been elected and appointed as secretary of the board, was not required to sign the document at all. Apparently she did not notice the fine print under the signature line which indicated that she was secretary of the union, not the school board.

"Her signature did not belong," said Radakovich. "It should have been erased."

Osmond said the signing of the agreement occurred on her very first night on the job. A large numbers of papers were signed that evening, and afterwards she was surprised the union did not have any objections.

"I remember that night. We were sworn in," Osmond explained. "I was brand new and there were a lot of papers that needed to be signed. I was very surprised that the association did not object."

According to Osmond, it would not be possible for her to be on the school board and the secretary of the union. To her knowledge, in order to be in the union a person must be a teacher at Antioch Community High School. It is her understanding that a teacher at the school cannot become a board of education member for the same school.

Woman snagged for defraud in FBI investigation

by MARY FOLEY

Lakeland Newspapers

Elaine Ciborowski, age 53, of North Avenue in Antioch has been charged with defrauding Gladstone Norwood Trust and Savings Bank of $238,000 and causing losses of $55,000. Ciborowski was employed at the bank as a loan officer.

The FBI, last week, announced 39 unrelated indictments and criminal information, charging 43 defendants with crimes against a total of 35 federally insured lending institutions and a mortgage company. Six of the affected banks have branch offices in Lake County.

"As you know, we work bank fraud," said Bob Long, spokesperson for the FBI. "We thought it would have more impact by putting the cases together."

According to James Burns, the United States Attorney for the Northern District of Illinois, the cases being prosecuted reflect a wide range of offenders, from a bank vice-president to bank borrowers.

"The schemes perpetrated by those being charged include check kites, loan kites, loans to nominee borrowers, loans in the name of fictitious individuals, loans obtained based on submissions of phony financial statements, bribes solicited by bank officers, embezzlements and thefts," explained Burns in a press release. "The serious problem of bank fraud will continue to be addressed by the United States Attorney's office and by federal law enforcement agencies."

As for Ciborowski, the criminal information charges that over a 10-year period, Ciborowski engaged in a loan kite. She made 20 unauthorized or fictitious loans totaling $238,000. The initial purpose of the phony loans was to retire delinquent debts of family members. The subsequent fraudulent loan proceeds were used for personal and families expenses.

According to the FBI, they were able to uncover Ciborowski's scheme before the total amount of $238,000 was out of the control of the bank. The bank's losses totaled $55,000.

The United States Sentencing Guidelines allows the court to impose a fine of greater or double the gain to Ciborowski or loss to the bank, or $1,000,000. If convicted, Ciborowski faces a maximum sentence of 30 years imprisonment and a fine of up to $1 million. The U.S. Attorney prosecuting her case will be Joshua Buckman.

Representatives from Gladstone Norwood Trust and Savings had no comment about the arrest.

Village newsletter to change its policy on advertising

by MARY FOLEY

Lakeland Newspapers

The Antioch Village Board has approved a change in policy concerning advertising in the village newsletter. The newsletter has been increasing in circulation to include some township residents.

The newsletter charges $30 per space, per issue to advertisers. However, with the increase in circulation, more advertisers are becoming interested in the limited space available. The advertising charges offset some of the costs of printing and mailing.

Antioch Village businesses will now receive priority of the available space over outside businesses. In addition, businesses located outside the village will be limited to month-to-month contracts, while there will be no such limitation on village businesses.

The newsletter is sent to all Village of Antioch residents as well as a portion of Antioch Township. The newsletter includes a community calendar of events, brief informative articles of local interest, and a single page of advertisements.

sign as a reminder to hang on the door concerning the particulars of party day. After jotting down all the information, she held it up for Miss Mary, Miss Lois and I to review while sitting in the circle. We indicated our agreement and then little Kirsten Rognstad exclaimed, "Miss Marie, remember I can't read!" Once again, out of the mouths of babes.

Idea

Once again I share a fun holiday idea with everyone. This year our annual ornament exchange was held at the home of Linda Boerman. This is how it is done. There are 16 of us in the exchange. We each "buy" or "make" 16 ornaments of one pattern to give to the other members of the group.

The hostess obligation rotates each year, meaning each member hosts the holiday event once every sixteen years. The home of the hostess is decorated for the holiday and Christmas music is playing in the background. Everyone dresses in holiday attire, brings a dish to pass, three grab bag gifts and their ornaments to share.

After enjoying much laughter, friendly conversation and goodies the event begins. One at a time the ornaments are passed and opened till everyone has a turn to distribute their ornament selection. Then the grab bag game is played. The laughter, munching and conversation continues and everyone leaves filled with even more holiday spirit.

This year's ornament exchange was enjoyed by Fran Adelizzi, Linda Boerman, Marie Brausam, Cathy Dunfrund, Gloria Gambit, Cindy Marquart, Barb Miller, Debi Mozel, Natalie Newcomb, Darlene Olenick, Tricia Olenick, Cathie Radlein, Dee Samson, Liz Schmehl, Lori Teeters and Renate Wlezien. Try it! You'll like it!

Emergency service expands

Quicker response likely by spring

by SPENCER SCHEIN
Lakeland Newspapers

Lake County residents may see faster emergency service as early as next spring if all goes well with the Lake County Emergency Telephone Systems Board's (ETSB) latest plans, among them inputting every street, intersection and address range in the County into one computer system.

This information is currently being gathered and confirmed before it is inputted into the Computer Aided Dispatching (CAD) system, said Jeannine Ostdick, E911 board coordinator. With 10 to 12 people collecting the information from the Lake County Sheriff's Department, Antioch, Wauconda, Island Lake and Lake Zurich, Ostdick is hoping it is all completed by April 1, 1994.

These villages as well as Kildeer are currently hooked into the ETSB's own CAD system, but the larger CAD system will reach out to 23 different villages. Antioch, Lake Zurich and Wauconda provide dispatching for smaller communities.

So much of the County will be covered by the system, which will allow the dispatcher to manually type in information from the caller and, based on the situation, identify what kind of services need to be sent out and the nearest in the area, Ostdick said. Other information, such as the nearest intersection and fire hydrant will also be available.

All the villages hooked into the network will be able to work off the same software and communicate with other departments, she said.

Also in the preliminary stages is the installation of 200 computer terminals into police and fire vehicles among CAD users, which will enable the officer or firefighter to have a visual display of what the dispatcher types in, as well as access to information on vehicle registration, license plates and drivers licenses through LEADS, a law enforcement computer system, Ostdick said.

The computers will be paid for through the 75-cent surcharge appearing on phone bills of residents living in CAD-affiliated municipalities in Lake County.

Waterway agency sends out 1994 boating renewal forms

by TINA L. SWIECH
Lakeland Newspapers

Administration for the Chain O' Lakes Fox River Waterway Management Agency is notifying boaters about renewal form time.

Jackie Roever, agency office administrator announced, "Boaters, it's that time of year again. Watch your mail for the agency's new renewal form."

Registration forms for 1994 have been mailed by the agency, said Roever, and they are different this year. The old seven-part form has been replaced by a postcard form with a tear-off boater's receipt.

According to Roever, the 1994 renewal form is easier to read and process, and will save the agency almost $5,000 in printing costs. Along with their renewal forms, boaters should look for a copy of their agency Winter/Spring 1994 newsletter. Also new this year, boaters not using their renewal form will be charged a processing fee of $4 in order to handle the cost of additional paperwork.

New boaters will also have to pay the processing fee, Roever said.

ACHS students compete in Knowledge Master Open

Thousands of students in 50 states competed Dec. 8 in the 21st Knowledge Master Open academic competition. Middle school, junior high, and high school students at nearly 4,000 schools faced their computers and 200 tough questions to vie for top scores based on accuracy and speed of their answers.

A team of 24 students at Antioch Community High School scored 1,431 points out of 2,000 possible points. Antioch's Academic Team placed sixth in the state out of 55 schools, and 243 out of 1,526 in the country.

Academic Coach Tom Blasius described the event as "a great beginning for our team. We have a strong group of students this year, and hope to repeat last year's trip to Springfield for state competition."

Students on the team include: Mike

Beadle, Ryan Beall, Erica Behling, Steve DeRue, Jim Doolittle, Katie Fetting, Matt Fleming, Morgan Hirsh, Keith Jackson, Natalia Kolasa, C.J. Kucera, Jason Lichardt, Leah Ludden, Mariah McElroy, Adam Miller, Jason Mondello, Maxine Olson, Watson Raghavan, Beth Shehorn, Steve Spronk, Kim Wirsing, Phil Zeller.

The Knowledge Master Open was designed to stimulate interest and recognition for academic accomplishment. The contest runs on classroom computers to allow students the opportunity to compete in a large academic event without the expense of traveling to a central site.

Results of the contest are tabulated into overall, state and enrollment-size rankings by Academic Hallmarks, a Colorado publishing firm that hosts the event.

Martini takes stand on environment

by MARY FOLEY
Lakeland Newspapers

Judy Martini, candidate for Lake County Board in Antioch (Dist.1) has taken a stand on environmental issues. In particular, she hopes the county will explore some alternatives to solid waste disposal.

According to Martini, one of the results of an increased population is a larger amount of garbage generated. At this time, the state of Wisconsin is accepting 1/3 of the garbage collected in the county.

However, Martini is concerned that by January of 1995 Wisconsin may not accept any more Illinois waste. According to Wisconsin standards, that state could determine that the State of Illinois has not created enough landfills.

Martini thinks there are many alternatives to importing and exporting garbage.

"Cutting waste at the source is one answer. We need to encourage businesses to change packaging to more environmentally friendly standards," said Martini. "Encouraging commercial and multi-family units to recycle is a good place to start. Also, we need to encourage businesses to use recycled products more."

While she feels that the new weekly recycling program of Antioch Township is a beginning, she does not think it goes far enough. Martini believes that a curbside recycling program is needed.

"Our current Township recycling program is very outdated. We have a truck which sits in the Village of Antioch a few times a month and residents must drop off their old newspapers," said Martini. "We are talking about a county-wide issue here, and we need to take a more aggressive stand on the issue."

According to Martini, a curbside recycling program for all of the county is required by state standards. She believes residents need to be educated as to the benefits of recycling. Also, she thinks the county needs to have a processing facility that will accept materials which are not recycled such as certain plastics.

By recycling more, Martini hopes to reduce the need for additional landfills in the future. Furthermore, she believes the more residents recycle, the more cost effective it will become.

Thank You, Russ!

Amy Manderscheid has been selected as Antioch Community High School nominee for the Principal's Leadership Award Scholarship. Nominees will participate in the scholarship program which provides 150, one thousand dollar scholarships, to eligible high school seniors. Scholarship selection is based on a student's participation in service organizations, clubs and athletics; special recognition and honors received; academic record; and outstanding leadership. Winners of the Principal's Leadership Award will be announced next spring. The scholarship is co-sponsored by The National Association of Secondary School Principals and Herff Jones, Inc. Amy's parents are Roger and Judith Manderscheid of Antioch.

Ambassador

Jana Hagglund has been selected to represent Antioch Community High School at the Hugh O'Brien Youth Foundation Leadership Seminars (HOBY) this spring. The seminars are three to four day events that give tenth graders the opportunity to meet, interact with, and question regionally, nationally and internationally renowned leaders. HOBY's purpose is to bring together a select group of high school sophomores who have demonstrated leadership ability so that they can interact with groups of distinguished leaders in business, government, education, and the professions to discuss present and future issues. Jana's parents are Curt and Kathleen Hagglund.

Boundary important issue in a future Lake Villa High

by STEVE PETERSON

Lakeland Newspapers

Just where the eastern boundary would be for a proposed unit school district for Lake Villa could be an important element in shaping the proposed district.

Backers of the unit district, Joanne and Bob Osmond, appeared before the Warren Township High Board, Monday.

"There is no perfect answer to the eastern boundary," Joanne Osmond said.

Dr. Pat McMahon, WTHS superintendent, termed the area "significant."

According to the district supporters, the earliest the issue could go before voters is the November ballot. Antioch High is making another bid for expansion in March.

"It is an awful lot of work to let people have a choice," Joanne Osmond said.

Bob Osmond said students in Lake Villa District 41 attend one grade school, but head off to Grayslake, Antioch or Warren High.

"At one time the school boundaries made sense. Now we do not have the elementary school feeding into one high school," Joanne Osmond, an Antioch High board member said.

"One high school wants the student to read one book, the other another," she added.

"Once you move us, then everyone else can move so it is convenient and in their best interest," Bob Osmond said.

A member of the Lake Villa zoning board, he said area building will grow by leaps and bounds now that the sewer situation has been worked out.

Waukegan, Round Lake and North Chicago would spend less per pupil than Lake Villa.

The tax rate would be $4.58 per $100 of assessed valuation, but will drop by 1997. The EAV is based on 5 percent growth.

Bob Osmond said the plan has been received well.

Unit school district advantages for Antioch: Antioch schools in the community of Antioch; community support and identity; positioned to consolidate with Grass Lake and Emmons with decreased cost; decreased projected growth; better position to support future growth at current site.

Advantages for Lake Villa Township: economy of scale; equal opportunity for students; solution for future growth; community identity and support and uniting children in the same neighborhood.

After the last Antioch High referendum was defeated, the number one response was to build a high school for Lake Villa and Lindenhurst. We decided to look into the process of forming a unit district," Joanne Osmond said.

Tax impacts range from a slight decrease to $264 a year.

Should the effort progress, a petition would have to be filed, and approval granted by the regional superintendent of schools and an elected school board.

"We just finished a study and found it difficult to find specific data along that line of the right size for a high school," McMahon said.

"If you get too large, students have fewer opportunities for leadership; for participation in sports and activities. They may have more options for honors classes, but they have fewer opportunities otherwise," Joanne Osmond said.

stated they had no funds to do that," stated Kabbes.

An avid duck hunter, Blake is concerned that the water level on Grass Lake, a shallow lake already, will cause him and fellow hunters to be unable to get to their duck "blinds" by way of boat.

Blake said that according to Dr. Mary Landin of the Army Corps main office in Vicksburg, Miss. a constant water level must be maintained for proper aquatic growth.

"Trying to control Mother Nature is destroying our lakes. You've got to have a happy medium somewhere," Blake said.

Waterway agency to hold first meeting on referendum

by TINA SWIECH
Lakeland Newspapers

With a committee formed, advisory board members of the Chain O'Lakes Fox River Waterway Management Agency are hoping they will be able to gather enough support to keep the entity going another decade.

On Monday, Jan. 3, at 7:30 p.m., the committee headed by advisory members Pete Jakstas and Woodrow Boedecker will meet at the Mineola Hotel at 91 N. Cora Ave.

Officials from the agency will be present to answer questions from residents and concerned boaters on the issue of a March referendum calling for the continuation of the waterway agency that has been threatened to come to a halt at the end of next year.

According to Jakstas, boaters and lake area dwellers should wake up and smell the coffee. "If it's not reinstated, the Chain in the next five or six years will die."

"There's a lot of pros and cons," said Jakstas. He said there have been more improvements lately. "The agency in the last four or five years has been able to break through with the Army Corp of Engineers," said Jakstas.

The sunset clause in the agency's contract will mean curtains for the agency's super cleanup, maintenance of buoys and raking and dredging in the last few years, said Jakstas.

Keeping the agency operational won't mean that anything will come from taxpayers' pockets, said the advisory director. Much of the funding for the agency comes from user fees from boat stickers and registration.

Jakstas said that if the agency disappears, the state won't be helping to keep the Chain clean and clear for boating and other recreation.

Businessman released here after Minnesota kidnapping

by STEVE PETERSON

Lakeland Newspapers

FBI personnel in Minneapolis, Minn., and Chicago are coordinating efforts in an investigation regarding a kidnapping incident which ended in Gurnee.

A Bloomington, Minn., businessman, not identified by either FBI office, was released Dec. 24 unharmed near Gurnee Mills.

"The victim was leaving his business when he was accosted and abducted," Joe Walsh, FBI spokesman in Minneapolis said. The businessman described the abductors as two white males. The FBI investigation continues as to a possible motive. The victim was handcuffed and blindfolded. "He was released by two abductors in the vicinity of the Gurnee Mills shopping center," Chicago FBI spokesperson Bob Long said.

This took place about 4 a.m., Dec. 24.

"It just happened to end here," Long said.

Keys to victory in '94

Political parties share common trait---aversion to leading, governing.

Interestingly, recent Republican successes nationally parallel some of the same feelings of voters here and in neighboring Lake County communities.

The GOP won six major elections in 1993, U.S. Senate seats and Georgia, the mayoralty in Los Angeles and New York and governorships in Virginia and New Jersey. In each of the races, opposition to higher taxes, support for tax cut initiatives and taking a hard line on criminals were central themes. Sounds familiar, from this Heartland perspective.

Opposition to higher taxes and backing for tax cut plans are key to the opposition hereabouts to school referenda and the reason why reforming the way Illinois funds its public schools is impossible for all practical purposes. An intellectual argument can be made for increasing income taxes in Illinois to increase support for education, but the plan flies in the face of two popular hard core voter beliefs---blocking new taxes and cutting old ones.

Gov. Jim Edgar can win a second term in 1994 and Republicans can gain a House advantage in the Illinois General Assembly by hewing to the basic victory formula that has revitalized the national GOP picture. The formula can win elections, but it won't solve the nagging school funding program in Illinois.

In Illinois, Republicans and Democrats share a common trait. They can win elections, but leading and governing are other matters.

Lure of school job

Supply of superintendent candidates exceeds the demand.

With the possible exception of President of the United States and major league baseball manager, there is no more high stress, difficult occupation open to intense public criticism on a daily basis than the superintendency of a public school district.

OFF THE WALL

WOMAN
CAN CHANGE
A MAN

The three occupations also share another similarity. There is never a shortage of applicants.

That is the case in Wauconda Unit Dist. 118 where 126 applications were submitted to succeed Supt. Darrell Dick who will be retiring at the end of the current term. On the advice of consultants, board of education members were told to expect about half that many.

The interview process is winding down and the board could make its selection by mid-January.

What's the big attraction for a job sure to raise blood pressure and pave the way for ulcers? For one thing, school heads in this locality are paid pretty well, ranging from the $90,000's for smaller, less affluent districts, to $130,000 and up for larger and wealthier systems. Among educators, the superintendent's post is at the top of the ladder. The fact that school superintendent is a job where the holder can "make a difference" also makes for a strong appeal.

With supply exceeding demand, school board members can act confidently in the knowledge that the laws of economics are on their side. In an era where public education is buried under mounds of mandates, state and federal regulations and the constrictions of collective bargaining, it's easy to argue that the single most important task of a school board is hiring a capable superintendent.

93's hits, misses made for newsy 12 months

by BILL SCHROEDER

Lucky for you, loyal reader, that this columnist's weekly effort coincides with the last day of the year only a few times a century. So what follows will be a rare year-end "list," the kind of compilation that so many newspaper joes seem obliged to do every year.

So once in a great while is enough for this department. Here goes with a list of Lake County notable newsmakers in significant (and semi-significant) categories, some serious, some half serious and some just plain in jest:

Firing of the Year--The fall from grace in January of Iron Mike Ditka of Bannockburn, for 10 years Dah Big Bear.

Shock of the Year--Retirement of M.J. who used to hang his hat in Highland Park, but is now cocooned there in self-imposed exile.

Realist of the Year--Democrat County Clerk Linda Hess' decision to throw in the towel on being the only living example of the two party system in Lake County.

Student of the Year--Sam McKie of Antioch, who as editor single handed turned the student newspaper at College of Lake County into a respected, readable product.

Survivor of the Year--Fred Foreman of Gurnee, who turned his forced retirement as U.S. District Attorney for Illinois into a springboard for fat fees in private practice as legal counsel to troubled school districts and casino boat gamblers.

Living Dangerously Award--Ed Sindles of Mundelein, who threw away a soft and secure job as boss of the Lake County Jail to challenge Sheriff Clint Grinnell.

Income tax offers hope for school funding woes

by WILLIAM L. THOMPSON

Frustration showed through in a recent editorial in Lakeland Newspapers covering a variety of suggestions on redirecting public education.

I'll do my best to respond to issues raised in the article.

In the area of teacher salaries alone, I can't believe what has happened in the last 20 years.

One thing to keep uppermost in mind is the fact that the Illinois Legislature is the giant school board of the state. They pass the laws that school boards use to govern schools in their district.

Another thing that is important to know is the Golden Rule in the school business: "The guy with the gold makes the rule."

Until the Legislature "bites the bullet" on increasing the income tax and decreasing the reliance on the property tax, not much is going to change.

Teacher salaries

The teacher shortage of the 60's created a need to increase the starting salary to attract teachers. Add to that the annual increase for longevity and runaway inflation with six and eight percent increases annually and you are where we are today. There are teachers with PhD's with 30 plus years of service making upwards of $90,000. The public looks at 180 days of work as part-time employment and gets frustrated by high taxes for these teaching services. The same teacher who was making $20,000 25 years ago and is receiving $65,000 or $70,000 today is not a better teacher, just happier.

Increasing assessment and the tax cap

The appreciation of property has increased the amount of tax we pay even though the tax cap legislation supposedly limits the amount a school district can receive to the C.P.I. of five percent which even is lower. Tell a young householder with a big mortgage payment, and an out of work spouse, that their taxes are capped.

12 month school

Wauconda School District tossed out this idea to stimulate the voters to build a new school. I once changed a polling place to confuse the older voters and our tax rate increase passed on the fourth try. The Romeoville School District near Joliet established the year round school plan in districts (kindergarten through twelve), but it is practically unheard of in dual district (kindergarten through eighth and ninth through twelve). Every district wants to do everything themselves. I remember trying to establish a buying coop with several elementary districts and we couldn't get agreement on 20# paper or No. 2 pencils. Cooperation in all aspects of the school business makes great conversation but rarely happens easily.

Merit pay for teachers

Merit pay has never worked. Everyone is against it. Especially the weak teachers. The only merit I have used is fire the weak teacher and keep the better ones.

Vocational education

The legislature seven or eight years ago established specific graduation requirements which practically destroyed vocational education. A graduate can only have one year of credit in a vocational subject included in his list of requirements for graduation. The Legislature had decided that all pupils graduating from high school are going on to college.

Privatization

Good idea for custodial services and some maintenance services but clerical and secretarial doesn't work as well. It saves a lot of money. I agree but everyone has to work to keep it going well. Driver Ed can be taught by outside instructors providing they meet the state qualifications. Coaching positions require a teaching certificate of some kind. This requirement is established by the Illinois High School Assn., not by school law.

Editor's Note: William Thompson's service to education in Lake County spans four decades. He is the retired regional superintendent of schools. He and his wife reside in the Antioch area.

Commentary

the 1970's because they had no bonding power to build any more schools for a school population that grew from a few hundred students to over 12,000. The students went to school for 45 days and were off 15 days. They never received more than 180 days of instruction and the teachers could not be required to teach more than 185 days. The whole issue of year round school is placed in the "too hard basket" in today's world. Romeoville is back on a regular school year now that the enrollment is down.

Until some housing situation arises that necessitates consideration of year round school it will never happen.

The lighted school house

This is a great concept and works exceptionally well in Milwaukee where planning and coordination by city, park and school officials made it work.

The structure of our taxing bodies under Illinois law makes a lighted school house concept practically impossible. Some use of buildings (pools, gyms) is going all over in this county, but it is recreational. Night school classes are happening usually under the school district.

Teacher sharing

This works fairly well in some community unit school

Lawyers seek theme for gridiron fun night

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column of political commentary, is prepared from staff reports

Members of the legal fraternity with a bent for theatrics have spent the holidays searching for a suitable theme for their bi-annual Gridiron Show coming up Jan. 28 and 29 at Country Squire.

There was much gnashing of teeth when Phil Baron, Waukegan attorney and show director, discovered that plans for a "Jurassic Park" parody had been preempted by the Chicago Bar Assn.

Not wanting to be cast as copy cats (and maybe a copyright infringement suit?) Baron and his show time teammates went back to the drawing board to come up with a theme in keeping with the high standards of past Lake County Bar Assn. gridirons.

In case the fact went unnoticed, the gridiron shows "just happen" to coincide with election years. Any relationship with politics is purely intentional. Baron is back for a repeat performance. Rehearsals start the week of the show. By custom, Lake County law offices will either be closed rehearsal week or manned by skeleton crews. The Gridiron Show must go on!

• • •

All locked up---Gary Skoien, Republican candidate for Congress, didn't take the traditional holiday sabbatical. He concentrated on Lake County, especially mayors and village trustees, to get tuned in on grassroots issues for campaign ammunition. Skoien was careful to work into the conversation that he's on record for term limitations and will serve only 10 years. That commitment is signed and sealed, and tucked away in a safety deposit vault in Palatine, his hometown.

Still a winner---Even though he's retired from public life and tending to a securities and investment business, former County Board Chairman Norm Geary proved that he still can win elections. Geary was elected president of the Canvassback Club, a social and outdoors organization that sometimes edges into politics. The Canvassbackers recently logged a highly successful fall wild game dinner with an overflow crowd of nearly 500 at Maravella's. Geary resides in Antioch

Date to remember---Charles R. (Chuck) Bartels, new president of the Lake County Republican Federation, didn't send members Christmas cards. He sent out a letter reminding GOP loyalists that Tuesday, Nov. 8, 1994, is D Day for a big Republican victory.

Ever the optimist, Bartels said the date will mark the celebration of election of a Republican majority leadership in the U.S. Senate, the reelection of Gov. Edgar and the election of the first Republican Lake County clerk in 24 years. What about taking over control of the Illinois House? Maybe Chuck will get to that later. Bartels is the Manpower boss for this area with offices in Vernon Hills.

• • •

Enjoying life---At this stage in his life, Michael J. Kennedy, 28, says he is having too much fun making money so he's not going to run for Congress again like he did two years ago in a losing effort against incumbent U.S. Rep. John Porter. Kennedy isn't even involved in a law practice anymore, resigning from a firm to take a partnership in an investment enterprise involved with high tech industries. The Highland Park

Sullivan

Kyle

Democrat, however, is maintaining his seat on the board of Independence Center in Waukegan, a privately-run not-for-profit company providing training for the mentally ill.

• • •

More of the same---Expect Kathleen M. Sullivan to talk about the same issues she did two years ago when she ran against veteran Congressman John Porter for a Republican nomination. Only now Sullivan is saying how prophetic she was stressing health care issues, taxes and family values. Sullivan calls the issues of "paramount importance." Rush Limbaugh isn't the only one saying, "See, I Told You So."

• • •

Leading double life?---An on-going question on the 10th floor of the County Building these days is whether County Board Rep. Angelo Kyle is leading a double life? At least he has two addresses, they say, one in the district he was elected to represent and another in Park City where he spends most of his time when he isn't politicking. Another segment of the thinking is that Angelo is Angelo, a foot loose guy, so it doesn't matter where he hangs his hat.

Experience winter fun in preserves

The winter cold presents an array of exciting events for the whole family to enjoy at the many locations of the Lake County Forest Preserves. That is, if the snow sticks.

One of the most popular events is cross-country skiing through the scenic leafless trees and watching birds overhead through 63.5 miles of trails.

While daytime outdoors people are not likely to catch wild animals such as raccoons,

by SPENCER SCHEIN

foxes and deer walking about, they will get a chance to see their tracks, said Sarah Surroz, preserve public information coordinator, which can be another interesting way to learn about animals.

Other animals will be hibernating or living underneath the ground, Surroz said.

A good place to view birds is while sitting in an enclosed, and heated, log cabin in Ryerson, Surroz said, which overlooks a bird feeder with a heated pond.

Some of the best trails for skiing in the county are in Ryerson Woods near Deerfield and Old School near Libertyville. At least four inches of snow are required at Ryerson.

Snowmobile trails are also readily available for snow enthusiasts, although three-inches is required. The preserves offer 25-miles of trails, with some tying into other nearby systems. The northern section of the Des Plaines River Trail is one of many popular spots.

Children of all ages who love to slide down ice-faced hills on sleds or inner-tubes can head over to Old School or Lakewood near Wauconda.

Van Patten Woods near Wadsworth offers 74-acres of ice fishing on Sterling Lake, and ice skating is offered at Greenbelt near Waukegan, Half Day near Vernon Hills, Lakewood and Van Patten Woods. In both cases, 4 and one-half inches of ice are required.

As always, walking is a year-round favorite, but be advised, the forest preserves close when either the wind chill or temperature reaches -25 degrees Fahrenheit or below.

Before venturing into the great outdoors, call the forest preserve winter sports hotline, open 24-hours, at 367-6640, extension 165, to get the latest conditions.

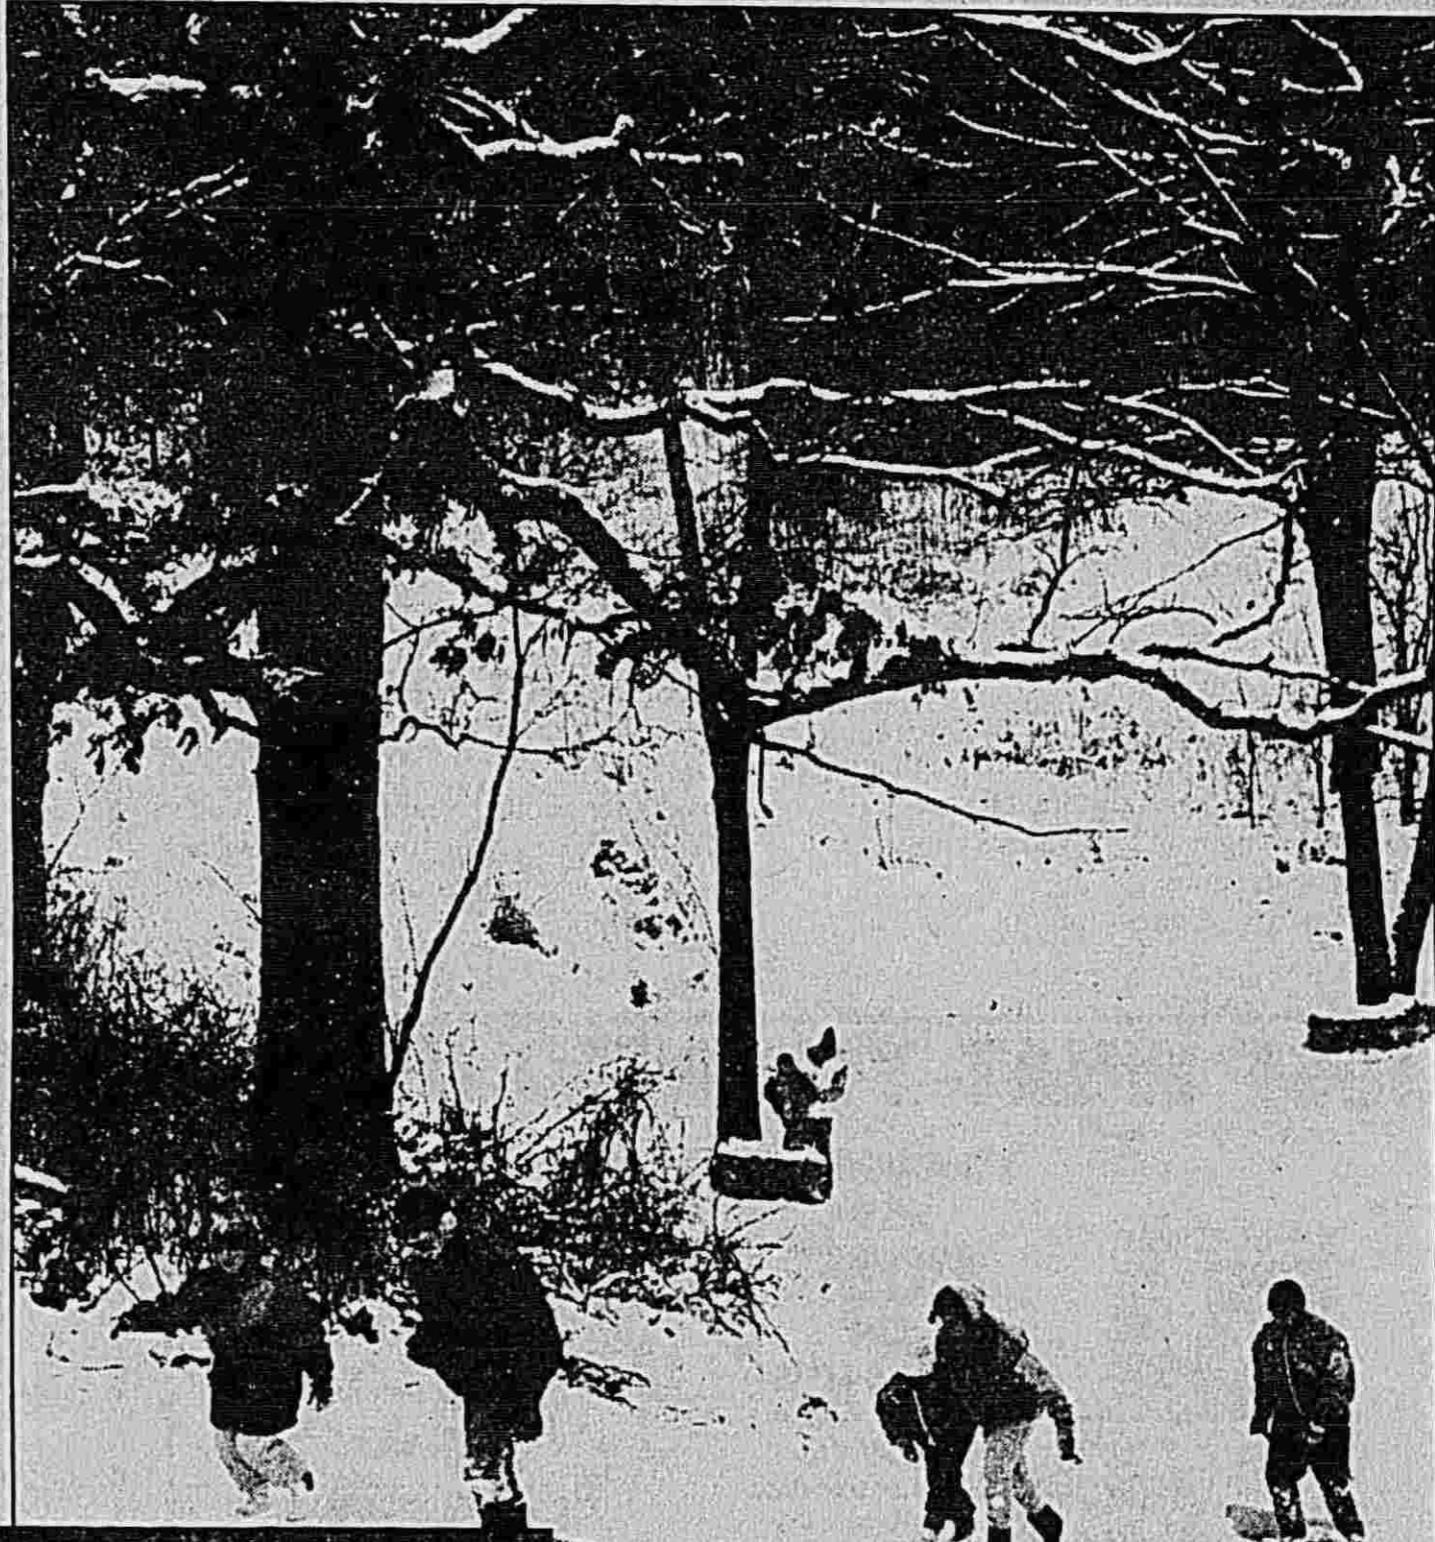

Upcoming winter events include an ice fishing derby on Sterling Lake in Van Patten

Woods from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. All ages are invited to fish for cash prizes and enter ice auguring contests. Ice fishing equipment will be available for rent. A fee of $5, $3 for children 12 and under, is required. Call 526-8217 for reservations.

Also, the annual Chilli Open Gold Tournament at Brae Loch near Grayslake is scheduled for Jan. 22, with the first tee-off at 8 a.m. Adult foursomes will traverse the unusual conditions in this nine-hole tournament, at $20 apiece, followed by lunch and an awards ceremony. Call 223-5542 for reservations.

A number of winter walks are scheduled, including a brown bagger on Jan. 8 at Van Patten Woods from 10 a.m. to noon, and Jan. 20 at Ryerson Woods from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., as well as a Winter Wonder Wander on Jan. 23 for children ages 6 to 9 accompanied by a parent, from 1:30 to 3 p.m., meeting at the preserves general offices in Libertyville. Children will learn how animals play in the winter and build a house of snow, among others, followed by making nature crafts inside.

Contact the preserves for more information and these or other events.

The Lake County Forest Preserves offers many opportunities for winter fun. To check on conditions, call the winter hotline at 367-6640, extension 165.

Walt Disney on ice

Walt Disney's World on Ice featuring Aladdin will be staged in the Chicagoland area, Jan. 25-30 at the Rosemont Horizon and Feb. 1-13 at Chicago Stadium.

A magic carpet flies through a diamond-studded night and leaves viewers wondering: How does one simulate desert sandstorms and sunsets and create a giant genie who exploded onto the scene in a swirl of smoke? Transforming a bare ice arena floor into an opulent Arabian fantasy was a challenge that faced the creative team of Walt Disney's World on Ice — Aladdin.

Working closely with the Walt Disney Company, the memorable scenes from the motion picture were magically transformed. "We had to rethink the film, how to get the flow and feel of the action when translating the ice arena," said Robert Little, set designer. Under his direction 306 props and 22 wonderfully detailed scenic curtains and pieces were created for this extravaganza. The production also features a new bi-level stage set design. The split-focus plan offers two performance staging areas: one on the ice and the other 154-feet high atop the proscenium.

Tickets prices are $10.50, $13.50 and $17.50. To order tickets contact the box office at Rosemont, 635-6600 or Chicago Stadium at (312) 733-5300. Tickets are also available through Ticket Master.

Winter Park, skiing for beginners to experts

by JIM WARNEKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

If you read my column last week you will know that I took the train to Winter Park, Colorado, which seemed fitting as it was the railroad workers who created this ski resort 50 years ago.

Winter Park is located at the west portal of the six-mile-long Moffit Tunnel. Upon completion of the tunnel, the workers thought this to be a perfect place for a ski resort.

The ski area consists of three mountains - Winter Park, Mary Jane (I'll explain the history of that name in a moment) and Vasquez. With a total of 106 runs, equally divided between beginner, intermediate and expert, you should find many to your liking. (I was proud of myself for getting beyond the runs marked "easiest way off mountain".)

Never, ever skied before? A lesson comes free with your lift ticket. If you are just a "Midwest" skier, as myself, take a lesson. While there are gentle runs, the mere size of a 12,000-foot mountain can be intimidating.

Unlike most ski areas, the stores, restaurants and night action are in town, not at the slopes. A free shuttle bus runs every half-hour between the slopes and most resorts.

Suggested lodging: Try the Beaver Village Condos, Raintree or Hi Country Haus. Restaurants: You must try the quesadillas and the green chili at the Crooked Creek Saloon, also a good place for night life with local color. Other night spots include the Slopes, another favorite of the locals. The younger crowd can be found at the Stampede.

Oh yes, about Mary Jane. It seems the cold winters had the railroad workers ready to quit, so the company hired a gal named Mary Jane to help their employees keep warm on those frigid nights. The workers were so grateful that they named a mountain after Miss Jane.

We think you'll be pleased to find all the news of your community in Section A. That's 16 pages of strictly local news. This is where you'll find news of your village government, township, school districts, library, and park district. You'll also be able to read about your neighbors in people news and about how the local sports teams are faring.

In Section B, you'll find compelling stories from across the county. You'll also be entertained and educated with Lakelife and Healthwatch. You can read varying viewpoints in the Editorial and Opinion pages, or catch some coffee shop chit chat in Lipservice. At-A-Glance will provide a quick view of headlines throughout Lake County. This is also where you'll find periodic special interest sections.

Finally, you can turn to Section C to catch the business beat of Lake County. Read about promotions, entrepreneurs, real estate and more. Section C is also the home to classifieds and regional sports.

These three sections are part of the complete renovation going on at Lakeland Newspapers. Once you see it, you'll know why it's big news.

'Deed of Trust' touching play

"Deed of Trust," a quiet, but touching, little play by Claudia Allen making its premiere at Chicago's Victory Gardens Theater, takes disillusionment as its theme.

Set in the late 1930s, the play embroiders on the loneliness of a brother, who has isolated himself from his siblings for some 18 years following his return from a tour of duty during World War I.

John Judd is Oliver, the self-made outcast who isn't about to mend fences with his brothers and sisters after they have sold the much loved family farm and divided up the proceeds.

Deanna Dunagan portrays C'Dale, the family's fixer-upper—only this time she's without a solution.

Not only must she deal with a taciturn brother, but she finds herself coping with escalating problems brought on by a good natured but alcoholic husband, played by Ned Schmidtke.

The set design by Kurt Sharp allows for several quick changes of scene, but it has a cluttered feel to it given Victory Gardens' compact space.

"Deed of Trust" plays through Jan. 16. For ticket information: (312) 871-3000.—by TOM WITOM

C'Dale (Deanna Dunagan) and Junia (Seana Kofoed) share a warm moment in "Deed of Trust."

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21 to April 10) It's a good time to regroup your forces. Set your sights on the realization of personal goals this new year. Guard against laziness on the job. Stay on top of record keeping. Follow through on promises. This weekend, you may fulfill a social obligation.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) The coming weeks will bring important business discussions. There's an accent on your inner life this week. There could be a mix-up in communications this week with someone at a distance. Though you're easily distracted now, concentration improves later in the week.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) An upcoming work assignment will have you greatly enthusiastic. Though you'll be visiting with friends this holiday, it's not the best time for social interests in general. Financial risk-taking is not favored this week. You could go a bit overboard when partying.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You'll be reviewing your overall financial position in the coming weeks and may make changes in your investment strategy. Home duties are a priority this holiday. Go easy on spending this week. Though it may take a while, you get on track business-wise.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Catching up on your reading will be one of your resolutions for the coming year. Advice you receive now may be misleading or garbled. Follow your own instincts. Slightly deceptive trends in business mean you'll have to be on the ball.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) It's not a good week for reaching financial agreements with others. However, in-depth thinking will aid you in all your activities in the coming weeks. Improved concentration powers lead to a productive work week. Avoid overzealous celebrating this weekend.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22)

22) Little things could crop up early that interfere with relationship harmony. Do your best to avert misunderstandings and hurt feelings. Despite fits and starts early in the week, you end up the week in greater closeness concerning matters of the heart.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You'll be more communicative and less secretive in the coming weeks. A friend may prove to be a distracting influence this week. Work progress is minimal, but this is only a holiday delay. You're better organized after the New Year.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Extra studying will be a top priority in the coming weeks. You're entering a reflective period which bodes change for the better. An outside entertainment may not live up to your lofty expectations this weekend, but you won't be too disappointed.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) A friend from the past dramatically re-enters your life. A club activity will be of great interest to you in the coming weeks. Be closemouthed about business interests. Stock up on necessities and deal with other domestic priorities.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Though business matters turn for the better in the coming weeks, this week you may find it difficult reaching others or getting them to understand your viewpoints. The weekend favors mental and creative interests. Romance beckons.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) In the coming New Year, you'll be happily signing up for a course, lecture, or seminar. You may be faced with some minor extra expenditures this week. Either you or a partner may tend to personal extravagance. Try to save instead of spend.

Gilmer Roadhouse, a real family place

The cold winter months are a great time to swing by the Gilmer Roadhouse for a bowl of steaming homemade soup, an order of ribs, a family size pizza or a hearty sandwich. Drive, ski or steer your snowmobile to Midlothian and Gilmer roads.

The restaurant offers not only parking for cars but snowmobiles as well and is listed on the snowmobile trail map.

Warm up with one of the tempting homemade soups. Popular choices include the minestrone on Tuesday and Saturday and the chicken noodle on Monday. Baked French onion is a regular feature.

The Gilmer Roadhouse just celebrated its 6th anniversary Dec. 1 and has a brand new menu with old favorites and a few new delights. The house specialty is baby back ribs.

"I've had people say to me they have been to places that specialize in ribs that don't compare to ours. Our special sauce is a medium sauce. It's not too sweet or too bland, it's somewhere in between. They satisfy a wide array of appetites," said owner Dean Taggart.

For lovers of Italian food, nothing beats the homemade lasagna or pizza, either thin crust or pan. The pizza is made from scratch from the sauce right down to the crust and is sure to become a family favorite.

On Fridays stop in for the all-you-can-eat fish fry, with a choice of cod or ocean perch or a mix of both for just $5.95. The price includes choice of potato, homemade soup (be sure and try the New England clam chowder) or salad and garlic bread.

If it's a good burger you crave there is nothing better than sinking your teeth into a thick half-pound made-to-order charbroiled burger. There are 10 varieties of burgers with a full range of garnishes, if you don't see a combination that appeals to you they will mix and match items for a one-of-a-kind taste sensation.

Reasonable prices make the Gilmer Roadhouse a great place to take the entire family. Items from the children's menu start at just $2.95.

The atmosphere is casual and relaxed, the staff, friendly and courteous.

"It's a good place to come with jeans and a sportshirt and not have to worry about dressing up," Taggart said.

The staff at the Gilmer Roadhouse wishes everyone a safe, happy and prosperous new year. Restaurant hours are Monday through Thursday, 11 a.m. to 10:30, on Friday and Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. and on Sundays from 8 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. They will be closed New Year's Day.

Gilmer Roadhouse is located on the corner of Gilmer and Midlothian Roads. For carry out orders or for reservations call 438-0300.

Mers celebrates 36th birthday

Historic Mers Restaurant has been delighting customers for 36 years. Mers, located on the shores of Bangs Lake in Wauconda, occupies a building with a past. Once a stage coach stop, Mers continues the tradition of fine dining and excellent service.

Celebrate the New Year with Mers' fantastic special New Year's menu. Seafood and steak are the highlights, then enjoy Karaoke in the lounge along with party favors.

As you might guess, Mers is big on seafood. There is a huge assortment of seafood dishes to choose from. The all-you-can-eat fish offering on Fridays is just a spectacular deal.

The Sunday Brunch is fabulous. Served from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Chef Kelly will make your omelets to order. Over 10 hot breakfast selections are laid out, along with a pastry table and a salad bar. All this for $8.95 for adults and $5.95 for children 10 and under.

But, Mers Restaurant is not just a seafood place. According to customers, Mers has the best ribs around. Mers is also noted for its prime rib.

On Saturday evenings, stop by to enjoy Karaoke entertainment. The lounge is a great place to eat, drink, and visit.

Your hosts, Rosemary Mers and son, Bob Mers look forward to seeing you this summer. The restaurant is open every day except Tuesdays. Lunch hours during the week and Saturday are 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Dinner hours are from 4:30 to 10 p.m. The Sunday schedule is 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Nashville Bluegrass Band set to perform at Woodstock Opera House

Considered to be one of the premier vocal acts in bluegrass music today, The Nashville Bluegrass Band will appear in their second solo concert at the Woodstock Opera House on Saturday, Jan. 8 at 8 p.m. The band consists of Pat Enright on guitar, Alan O'Bryant on banjo, Stuart Duncan of fiddle, Roland White on mandolin, and Gene Libbea on acoustic bass.

Since their formation in 1984, the Nashville Bluegrass Band has always presented music that was in touch with its roots. They play acoustic/stringband music the way it was meant to be played: soulful, dynamic, rhythmic, and precise. They have a deep respect for where bluegrass music has been, but they're also aware of where it's going.

Both their live shows as well as their critically acclaimed recordings feature new arrangements of classic bluegrass tunes, their own compositions, and songs from contemporary writers, highlighted by exquisite quintet harmonies.

The Nashville Bluegrass Band won its fourth consecutive award for vocal group of the year and became the first ever two-time winner of the entertainer of the year honor at the annual International Bluegrass Music Awards Show which was held this past September in Owensboro, Ky. Did you know? Quick facts about diamonds

Did you know that...?

Diamonds are the hardest known substance on earth and the gemstone with the most sparkle when well-cut.

Diamonds are composed of carbon that crystallized millions of years ago deep below the earth's surface.

Diamonds were first discovered in India over 2,000 years ago.

The word diamond came from the ancient Greek word "adamas," meaning unconquerable. The ancient Greeks thought diamonds were the tears of the gods.

The ancient Romans thought diamonds were splinters from falling stars with which Eros' arrows were tipped.

Wearing a diamond engagement ring on the fourth finger of the left hand dates back to ancient Egypt where it was believed that the vein of love ran from the finger directly to the heart.

The diamond engagement ring made its appearance in 1477, when it was slipped onto the finger of Mary of Burgundy by her fiancée, Archduke Maximilian of Austria. Before a diamond is placed on a woman's hand, it will probably touch at least four continents and involve the skills of many craftsmen, making it a truly international gem.

Most diamonds have 58 facets, to bring out their maximum sparkle, fire and brilliance.

Seventy percent of all brides receive a diamond engagement ring; 75 percent of all first-time brides receive one. Fifty percent of all couples choose a diamond engagement ring together.

Ninety percent of all grooms receive a wedding band; one in five receive a diamond wedding band.

Weddings

cider will warm up guests during winter ceremonies.

A reception wouldn't be complete without music, and the music should be as special as the first dance. So take time to audition bands before booking musicians, because bad music can ruin a reception. For more intimate gatherings, consider hiring a harpist, pianist or classical guitarist. An organist and other musicians affiliated with the house of worship may be the most intelligent and economical choice for the ceremony music. They know their equipment and acoustics of the location, and they receive a salary from the site, so their fee shouldn't be so outrageous. Details, details, details

Flowers express the joy of a ceremony. In-season blooms are easier to find since they do not have to be shipped in, and most flowers are fullest and less expensive during their peak growing time. Experts advise couples to ask friends for florist recommendations and evaluate store displays for freshness and creativity. Other ideas include forming bouquets that use large flowers, like lilies, which require fewer blooms, decorating the reception site with arrangements used in the ceremony, adorning the head table with bridesmaids' bouquets, using inexpensive cascading blooms of one flower and greenery for an elegant bouquet or tying multiple blooms of less expensive flowers together into one huge "flower" to create a lavish bouquet.

A wedding does not have to be a big production. A couple should decide what they want from the start—a small, intimate ceremony and reception, or a lavish wedding with hundreds of guests. Yet more importantly, planning a wedding should be a joyous occasion—not a tedious chore—celebrating new beginnings filled with hope and promise.

Get tipped off on toasting

Many ancient customs and traditions surround the institution of marriage. Wedding veils, for instance, were first worn by brides in early times to ward off the "evil eye" of jealous rivals. Another custom involves the wedding ring, which is worn on the third finger of the left hand because our ancestors believed this finger and the heart were directly linked by the "vena amoris," or vein of love. The word "honeymoon" supposedly originated when brides were forcibly abducted from neighboring tribes. To avoid vengeful parents the couple would hide out for 30 days through the phases of the moon, drinking a mead wine made from honey, according to legend.

Bridal toasts are also traditional within the wedding celebration. To help perfect the art of toasting, Martini and Rossi, producers of Asti Spumante, has introduced a complete toasting guide for soon-to-be-marrieds. Wine has always been central to the wedding celebration throughout history and the traditional toast calls for using a sparkling wine. As a result, marriage myths and traditions that have developed over the years have been incorporated into the "Bridal Toasting Tips" brochure.

The informative brochure discusses the rich history of the bridal toast, including traditions from China, France, Italy and more. Also included are sections with suggestions of modern wedding toasts for those nervous members of the wedding party and ideas for beginning new traditions that are sure to create a lifetime of memories.

To receive a copy of "Bridal Toasting Tips" send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to The Alden Group, Dept. M., 52 Vanderbilt Ave., New York, NY 10017.

Know key to buying a diamond engagement ring

The diamond engagement ring has been a symbol of love and romance since 1477 when Archduke Maximilian of Austria gave Mary of Burgundy a gold ring with a diamond as a token of his love. Today, the tradition of the diamond engagement ring continues. According to a new consumer survey, 70 percent of all brides-to-be receive one. A little knowledge can go a long way to help unearth the best quality diamond within a budget. Understanding diamonds requires knowledge of the four C's: Cut, color, clarity and carat-weight. These four variables are key to answering the elusive question as to why two diamonds of equal size may not be of equal value.

- Cut—Although diamonds can be cut in several shapes, such as oval, marquise, pear or round, it is the quality of the cut which gives the stone its brilliant sparkle. Light is reflected best when all of the facets are perfectly proportioned.

• Color—The best color is no color. Absolutely colorless diamonds are very rare.

- Clarity—The term clarity refers to a diamond's lack of naturally occurring inclusions, often called "nature's fingerprints," most of which are not visible to the naked eye. The fewer the inclusions, the more valuable the diamond.

• Carat-weight—Carat refers to the weight of the stone. There are 100 points in a carat, therefore, a diamond of 50 points weighs one-half of a carat and a diamond of 200 points weighs two carats.

These elements will determine the cost of a diamond. For those who are unsure about what to spend on a diamond engagement ring, many jewelers suggest two months' salary as an appropriate guideline.

To find out how to get a quality diamond, consumers should visit a reputable jeweler whom they know and trust. The diamond engagement ring is a symbol of a couple's future, and like love, can grow more precious with time.

Marriages are sealed with a platinum kiss

Brides- and grooms-to-be are going platinum, and statistics prove it. Worldwide demand for platinum jewelry, the world's rarest and most precious metal, is up 73 percent in the past five years, according to Platinum Guild International USA Jewelry. In the United States, platinum consumption rose 40 percent from 1991 to 1992. That's quite a significant gain, and bridal jewelry accounts for a good portion of it.

According to Jewelers of America (JA), the national trade association that provides information about fine jewelry, platinum is a popular choice these days because it has a discreet elegance that is appealing. About 95 percent pure, platinum is traditionally, yet contemporary, and offers lifetime value and wearability. By choosing platinum, brides and grooms are selecting rings that will endure for generations to come.

There's also the return of the traditional "white wedding," and with a return of the traditional platinum wedding ensemble. Platinum's rich, white luster perfectly enhances a diamond's brilliance and depth. Even the world's most legendary diamonds—the Hope, Jonker I and the Koh-i-noor—all have platinum settings.

In addition, today's brides and grooms are more sophisticated and often older than in previous generations, and the rarity and beauty of platinum strongly appeals to them. "Couples today are reacquainting themselves with platinum," says JA chairman Mike Roman. "Many remember their parents and grandparents wearing platinum rings that have been passed down for generations."

Platinum also appeals to many couples because of unique, contemporary designs that cannot be fabricated from any other precious metal. When combined with other metals, such as 18-karat gold, platinum has an exceptionally modern look. Last, platinum is perfectly suited for bridal jewelry because it exhibits no material loss, even after prolonged wear. It is non-allergenic and tarnish-proof. And, despite its amazing flexibility, it is resistant to expansion or distortion and holds gemstones secure, offering added protection for diamonds. Platinum is ideal for jewelry that is worn every day over a lifetime.

Choosing a meaningful bouquet

There are few things on earth as well-appointed for the pursuit of romance as the diamond engagement ring and the bridal bouquet. To capture their timeless beauty, consider choosing flowers that coordinate with the color and style of the bridal gown.

A couple spends months choosing the perfect engagement ring and may never even consider the meaning of their wedding flowers. A couple will probably purchase more flowers for their wedding than for any other occasion, so the beauty and symbolism of their wedding flowers are significant.

To find a florist, ask friends for recommendations or visit local florists and ask to see samples or pictures. Be ready to discuss your color scheme, flower preferences and, most importantly, the budget. Many couples want their flowers to have special meaning, consult the following list:

Carnation—sweet, innocent; Daffodil—regard and chivalry; Gladiolus—love at first sight; Honeysuckle—fidelity; Lily—purity, innocence; Lily-of-the-valley—happiness; Orchid—love, beauty, fertility; Rose—symbol of love; Stephanotis—bride's good-luck flower; Tulip—perfect love; Violet—modesty, faithfulness.

After you've made your selections, take time to review the fine points. Let the florist know when and where the flowers can be delivered, when deposits are due, and the cancellation policy. And don't forget to order a tossing bouquet so that you can save and preserve the real one.

Create your own wedding day hairstyle at home

On your wedding day, there are no second chances!

Brides-to-be often make at least two or three visits to a hairdresser before the big day. However, a growing trend is that many new brides are opting to style their hair themselves, thanks to the availability of at-home styling aids which help to achieve a professional-looking result.

Experts offer some great advice for creating your own wedding day hairstyle:

- Start by flipping through bridal magazines for hairstyle ideas. Clip out examples of those styles that will work best on your

- length and type of hair.
- Shop around and select your headpiece early. The hairstyle you ultimately choose will depend upon the style and shape of your headpiece—and you need to make sure they work together.
- Practice makes perfect. Experiment with a variety of styling products

- like mousses and gels to determine which work best to help you achieve the look you want.

- Also pay attention to the time required to create your style. You'll want to leave ample time on the wedding day to get your style picture perfect. Practicing yourself will also spare you of several costly

- trips to a salon for consultations.

- Make sure your hairstyle is also functional. You won't have much opportunity to stand still on your wedding day—and your style has to withstand all the action. After your "practice sessions," be sure to turn your head in all directions to make sure your style stays intact and is comfortable.

Parenting tips: How to survive temper tantrums

How many times have you gotten to the point where you just don't know how to handle a child's anger? This is a very normal reaction, and the following guidelines may help alleviate your frustrations. In order to develop better communication between you and the child, (1) set realistic limits, (2) be consistent, (3) follow through—this aids in building trust, (4) create appropriate responsibilities for the child's capabilities (emotionally and socially), and (5) talk specifically and briefly—children have short attention spans and become uninterested with elaborate language. Most important—praise efforts, not just achievement. Parents and caregivers need to help children master their emotions, not to avoid them; this enables a child to develop a positive self-image.

While all children have varying degrees of emotions, some may have difficulty with their emotions due to past experiences or lack of experiences. When children get angry, they seem to feel a surge of energy in one of three zones of the body: The hands (they pinch, poke, pull, break—or want to); the mouth (they bite, spit, scream, swear—or want to); or the legs and feet (they kick, run, stomp—or want to). According to Claudia Jewett, nationally respected family therapist, parents and caregivers are advised against reacting to children's expressions of anger with the threat of punishment. It is more helpful to assist the child in bringing out resentment or anger directly.

The best way to help a child physically release angry feelings is to respect his/her "energy zone" and to devise a permitted expression of such feelings. It may be useful to have certain materials on hand to use as props in the physical release of anger, when appropriate, and these could include:

- Newsprint—to tear, crumple, and/or to stuff into a paper bag for kicking or punching;
- Clay (or playdough)—to pound or splatter on a hard surface;
- Reinforced cardboard box—for kicking and hitting (in the corner of a room to keep the carton from flying about and causing damage, or outside);

- Foam bat (such as the "nerf" material), but with specific rules about not hitting other people or certain objects around the home; and

- Hammer and nails with total supervision—not to be offered to a very young child or one who has trouble controlling his/her impulses.

These suggestions provide for alternative activities using the undesirable behavior in a positive way. However, the ultimate goal is to guide the child into a verbal venting of his/her feelings.

A temper tantrum is like a blown fuse, however. It is a sign that the amount of frustration has become too much for the child to bear. All too often, a vicious cycle develops: The child's frustration triggers a tantrum, which can make the adult frustrated and angry, which can make the child feel even more frustrated and helpless, which exaggerates the tantrum. The first thing to realize is that you don't need to stop a tantrum—and it doesn't mean you've failed as a parent or caregiver. A young child will probably have fewer tantrums when she/he becomes more skillful and able to use more language. Try to remember that tantrums do serve a purpose: They work as a release, although explosive, for the unbearable pressure of frustration...and children aren't the only ones who have tantrums. Remember the feeling of...missing a bus or train...being very late for an appointment...being locked out of the house.

While tantrums seem to get the best of everyone at one time or another, by making the effort to recognize the child's needs, to respect his/her feelings, and to provide a secure and loving atmosphere for the child to achieve eventual self-control, you will be doing the most that anyone can do for this situation.—by

ASK MARILYN

Lakeland Newspapers is proud to introduce our "Dear Marilyn" column as a service of the Child Care Coalition of Lake County.

Marilyn Straus is an early childhood specialist, having worked for the past 40 years as a teacher of young children, director of a preschool center, and as an early childhood consultant, writer and lecturer.

Marilyn is currently Director Emeritus of Ravinia Nursery School in Highland Park.

Write to "Dear Marilyn" if you have a problem or concern you want answered. Send your letters to: Dear Marilyn, c/o Child Care Coalition of Lake County, P.O. Box 1252, Highland Park, Ill.

The column will appear each month in the Good Beginnings section of the newspaper.

Q. Dear Marilyn,

It seems to me that my 3- and 4-year-olds are much more physically aggressive towards one another than when I was a small child growing up. In our home we have always preached kindness and love, so why this banting?

A. At the present time in the United States, more children are exposed to violence than ever before. In part, some of this increase is due to the desensitization of children caused by the media. TV can be a powerful tool in the socialization process, where children are constantly exposed to the idea that violence is acceptable and an effective method of solving problems. Physical force, a regular occurrence among the good guys on television, gives young children complete assurance that is okay to pound Billy when Billy won't immediately surrender the coveted fire truck. Keep preaching and role modeling love and kindness in your home. However, you might begin to take a closer look at the TV shows your 3- and 4-year-olds watch. You may want to make some selective changes.

Your child's crossed eyes may cause permanent damage if not treated!

CROSSED EYES and other eye misalignments do not usually correct themselves. By the time a child is seven years old the vision damage they cause can become permanent.

Eye misalignments can be corrected as soon as a child is six months old. The earlier the correction, the more time there is for normal vision to develop.

If your child's eyes are misaligned, have them examined by Dr. Alan Chow, our children's eye specialists.

Business as usual despite the weather at Wilmot

by MARY FOLEY

Lakeland Newspapers

Even though the weather refuses to cooperate, it is business as usual at Wilmot Mountain. With state of the art snowmaking machines, Wilmot is a winter wonderland surrounded by grass on either side.

Snowmaking is an art in itself and Wilmot has two recipes both ways generate an explosion of water into subfreezing ambient temperatures.

The first method uses compressed air which breaks water into droplets. The droplets are projected into the cold air to become snowflakes. The other method is airless, using jet-engine sized fans which thrust the water 75 feet into the air. The water forms a cloud near the surface loading the air with water into an array of droplet sizes. The droplets then become snowflakes as they reach the ground.

The temperature must be 28 degrees or colder to make snow. Although, Michael Reese, president of Wilmot Mountain, Inc., says they have been able to make snow when it is as warm as 30 degrees, depending on the amount of humidity.

Wilmot has a 12 person crew on call watching the thermometer. As soon as the temperature drops, the crew begins the snowmaking process, whether day or night. It takes roughly 12 hours to make one foot of snow in 10 to 15 F temperatures. Wind-chill has no effect on snowmaking, but air direction does.

The snow making machine is actually a lot of machines. Two-thirds of the snow machines used are compressed air guns. It takes approximately 20-30 guns per hill. Only one airless machine is needed to make snow for an entire hill.

Wilmot also makes snow once the "real snow" begins to fall. After there are 3 to 4 feet of snow on the ground, snowmaking at Wilmot becomes "casual."

Wilmot, despite the warmer than usual weather, opened up for the year on Nov. 30. Since then, the slopes were closed only one day due to an inadequate snow base.

Wilmot is open on weekends and holidays from 9:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. During the week, they open at 10 a.m.

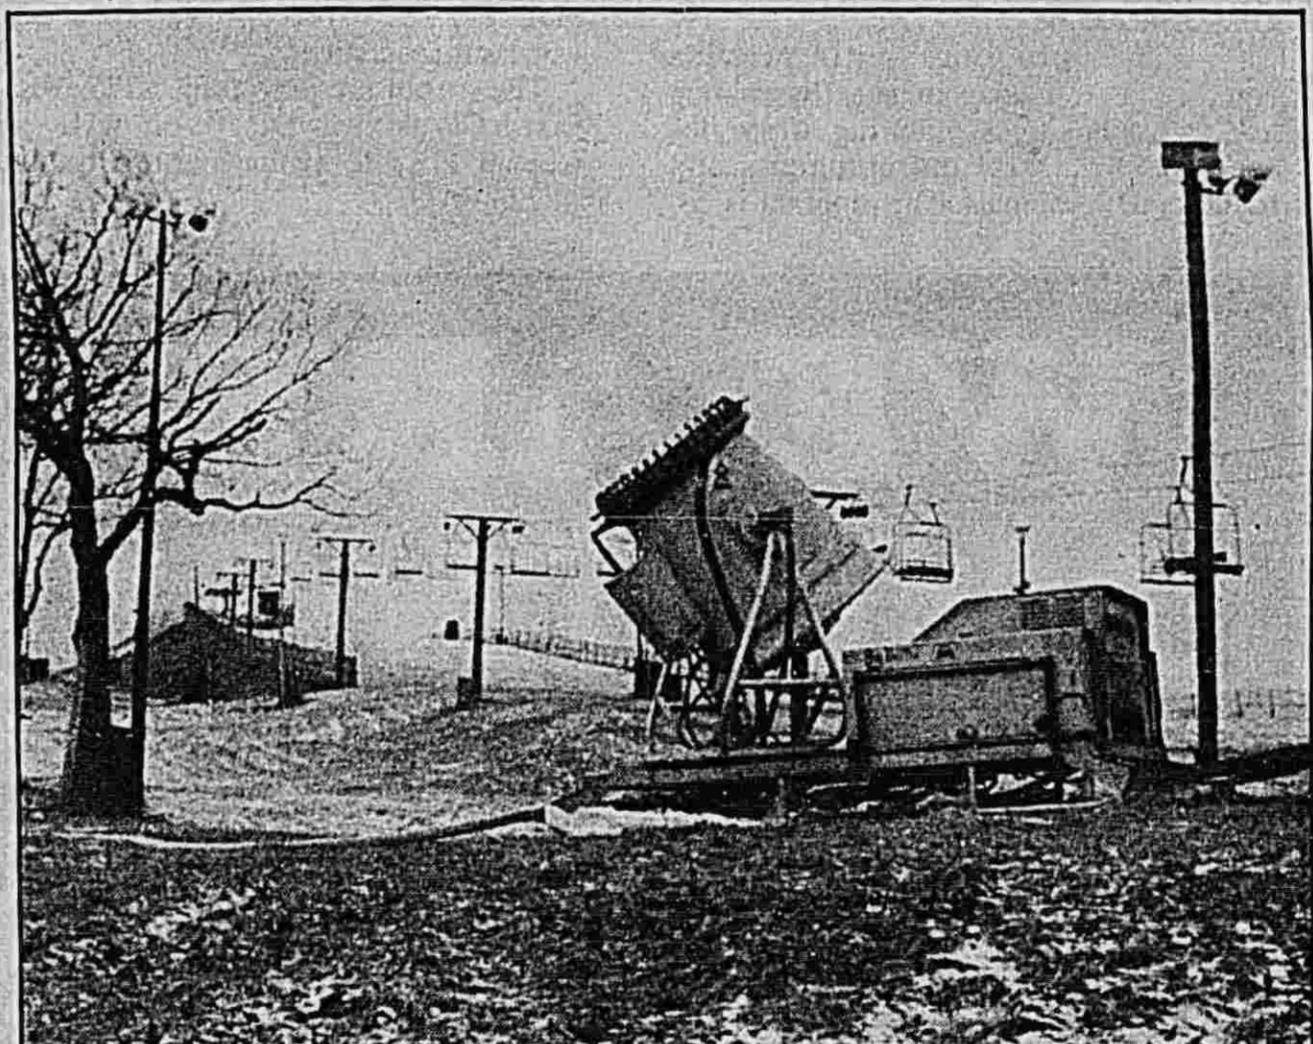

For those who have never skied before or want to improve the skills they have, Wilmot Ski School is the place to be. With 140 professional ski instructors, the school offers group, private, semi-private, children's, and special super-saver group lessons. Wilmot also offers superior rental packages with frequently updated equipment.

Safety is a big consideration at Wilmot. With over nine wonderful runs for beginners, skiers can select a run which fits their capabilities. And, if an accident does occur, Wilmot has an award winning ski patrol which has been selected twice as the number one ski patrol in the country.

A new feature at Wilmot is the Winter

Wonderland. This is a special learning area for children utilizing a unique teaching method operated through the ski school.

"What we sell is escape. Something different from everyday life," explained Reese. "And, we are close. Right here in your backyard."

Century 21 Marketplace grows with the community

by CLAUDIA M. LENART

Lakeland Newspapers

Lake County's biggest real estate office, Century 21 Marketplace Ltd., is poised for continued growth since moving into a new office at the corner of Routes 176 and 45 in Mundelein.

"We hope to grow to about 60 agents," said Steve Kovac, co-owner/broker along with Beverly Brua. "It will mean that much more business will come to us. There's strength in numbers."

Century 21 Marketplace currently has about 40 agents. The office boasts the largest sales volume in Illinois and 47th in the United States.

But what's big business now, started out small. Brua and Kovac met 18 years ago when they were working at different real estate offices. Kovac, who was managing an office, asked Brua to come work for him as a sales agent and then as his assistant.

"There came a time when we both decided we wanted to be our own boss," said Brua.

In 1981, Century 21 Marketplace opened with Brua, Kovac and Kovac's wife, Pat.

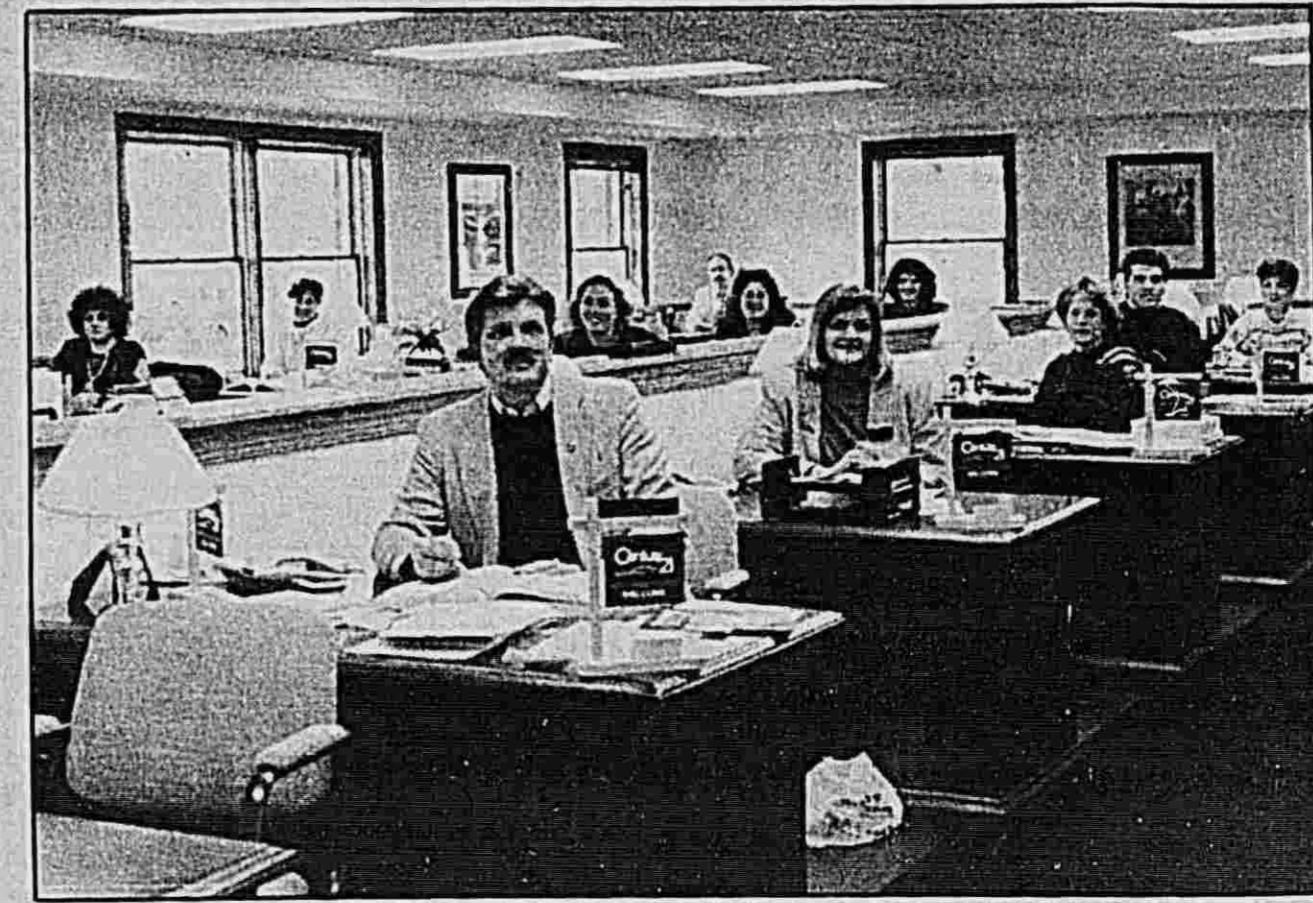

Brua attributes the growth and success of the office to their commitment to service. "If you do a good job, customers are going to use you over and over. We have a good staff, they're hard working and willing to give back to the community."

Kovac said Century 21 Marketplace agents are heavily involved in the community in various groups and organizations. "Our agents have done such a good job with the public," he said.

Century 21 Marketplace believes in giving back to the community. The new building has a lower level which Marketplace is offering free-of-charge as a meeting room for any non-profit community groups.

Brua said the agents are excited about being in the new office, which has been remodeled. Kovac noted the visibility of the new site is good.

"It's at a very prominent location, at the intersection of two of the busiest roads in the county," said Kovac.

Season brings sweet success

by SPENCER SCHEIN
Lakeland Newspapers

With the holiday season passed by for another year, the Sugar Plum Drop Fine Gift Baskets and Candies at the corner of Old Rand Road and Route 22 in Lake Zurich is gearing up for the next holiday with high expectations after what store owner Diane Ramsey said has been a phenomenal beginning.

Since opening this past October, Ramsey has made her shop something others could follow in the village's push for a redeveloped downtown area.

Both the outside and inside of Sugar Plum offer an old-time feel, complete with three-penny and nickel candies placed low for easy access for the eager little hands of children.

Ramsey has previous food retail experience running a restaurant in Richmond, Va. and a bakery in South Carolina before moving with her husband and children to Lake Zurich about six years ago.

Entrepreneur

Getting the itch to get back into the business, she thought a gift basket operation would be something fun to do and fulfill a need in the village.

Although putting together gift baskets is the store's main drive, Ramsey said sales of candy, blankets and anything on the walls have been exceptional.

"We have turned into becoming an all-around store," she said.

While empty baskets can be found almost everywhere inside, the shelves are lined with specialty coffees, dried soup and bread mixes, pastas, jams and jellies and other scrumptious items.

With convenient food stores popping up all over, Ramsey thinks her shop will attract children living in the area, as many have already come over weekday afternoons from the three schools less than half a mile away.

She expects the forthcoming summer to bring in even more children.

Ramsey can put together gift baskets of any size and will order items, such as fruit, to fill a customer's request.

Putting the baskets together is different every time.

Corporate executives have started stopping by to place orders, and even Lake Zurich Mayor Deborah A. Vasels walked over from her busy day recently at village hall one-block away looking for espresso.

"It's just a fun business because everyone is different," Ramsey said.

And trying to please everyone is "a tall bill to fill," but Ramsey seems to have a strong start and a bright future looming ahead.

Mustangs show defensive skills in netting Jacobs

by STEVE PETERSON

Lakeland Newspapers

A fan in the stands at Jacobs High School summed up a common misconception about the Mundelein High boys basketball team.

"They are a good team, but they don't play much defense," the fan said to a companion before the championship game's start against Hoffman Estates.

The Mustangs (12-1) won the crown at the Jacobs holiday tournament with a 68-52 win over Hoffman Estates Tuesday. The victory was the second in which Mundelein scored 70 or fewer points and won.

"At the one timeout in the third quarter, we decided to play behind them and double down. We put Gerald (Coleman) on the little guard (Laron Hall) and pressure him more. They got tired and we began to execute our backdoor," Mundelein Coach Dennis Kessel said.

All-tourney pick Sean Stackhouse finished with 22 points and two of his nine field goals were slams. "Sean showed discretion. It showed me the kids are determined. When our kids play determined, we will be a team to be considered," Kessel said.

Kyle Kessel, who gets most of his baskets off transition and this one was a halfcourt battle, had 13 points along with the third all-tourney pick, Coleman.

"Coach said I was not playing enough defense; that I was slacking off. I knew I had to step it up. I wanted to deny the ball more. That stopped their offense at halfcourt," Stackhouse said.

"We just slow it down, run our offense," Stackhouse said of the game's tempo.

Kyle Kessel and the Mustangs, 93-55 semifinal round winners over Jacobs, were confident.

"We knew Hoffman would hold the ball until they got a good shot or lay-up. They worked the ball for a minute or minute and a half every time down. We wore them down and they got more careless, and we got some transition baskets," Kyle Kessel said. "We did not run as much as normal; the shots came more from the offense."

After a tight first quarter which had Mundelein ahead 18-16, 31-29 at half, Mundelein surged in the second half. A steal and a layup by Stackhouse increased the lead to five, and it reached seven on Stackhouse's second slam of the night, with 3:16 left. Miller's inside basket upped the lead to nine before Hoffman Estates countered with a four-point play.

Two Coleman free throws and a Stackhouse bucket keyed a 6-1 Mundelein run which gave the Mustangs an 11-point fourth quarter lead. Mundelein showed the mark of a champion by maintaining its cool in the fourth quarter, making 10 of 11 free throws.

"We are up to about 67 or 68 percent free throw shooting as a team. I knew we had the potential to shoot free throws. We have a veteran team. Kyle has been on the varsity for four years, Thad Miller for three as a starter, Stackhouse has been on the varsity for three years and Coleman was on the varsity as a sophomore. We should be able to go down the stretch and not beat ourselves," Coach Kessel said.

Coleman led the way against Jacobs with 20 points. Stackhouse had 17, Kessel 16 and Miller 14. Mundelein downed Round Lake 71-44 in the second round.

Although the tourney title was Mundelein's first at Jacobs, the Mustangs are not about to rest on their laurels.

Warren is next Jan. 7 away before a tough non-conference showdown with Grayslake away Jan. 8.

"It feels pretty good, but we have to show them we are No. 1," Stackhouse said.

Determined Panthers gain goal, third-place trophy

by STEVE PETERSON

Lakeland Newspapers

Round Lake High's boys basketball team set what seemed like an overly optimistic goal at the time.

"Two and one-half weeks ago we were 1-5. We set a goal before the tournament started to be .500 or better. The kids worked awfully hard to get there," Round Lake Coach Bob Ward said.

Indeed, the Panthers are .500 at 6-6 following a 55-53 thrilling win over Cary-Grove Tuesday. The victory earned RL the third-place title at Jacobs holiday tournament.

The contest boiled down to the final shot. The Trojans' Paul Vandeven had two previous three pointers to pace a Cary rally. It would appear he would be the last one Round Lake wanted to touch the ball. But he missed two shots, the second one bouncing off the side of the iron. The senior finished with 10 points, but Ward was pleased with the defense on him.

"We had three kids on him. David Bass played the whole first half on him. He got in foul trouble. Chris Knauf got absolutely knocked for a loop. He switched on his own and had Jay Wilcox go out there, and he had the best moves all night long," Ward said.

Round Lake set the tone defensively with several steals which led to a 19-point lead.

"We had good man pressure. I thought we played defensively as well as we have all year long," Ward said.

"We have been working a lot harder in practice; talking a lot and helping out with communications. The Cary guards were not as hard as Grayslake or Mundelein. Their point guard had a certain move I would get down and it seemed steals would lead us to points," Wilcox said.

Wilcox is a senior who has been playing hoops in the Round Lake area since fourth grade. He remembers watching the likes of another strong defensive player, Mark Dittmer.

"I try to be a leader," he said.

"I am pleased with our performance in the tournament. After we lost to Mundelein, third-place was the best we could do, and that is what we got," Ward said.

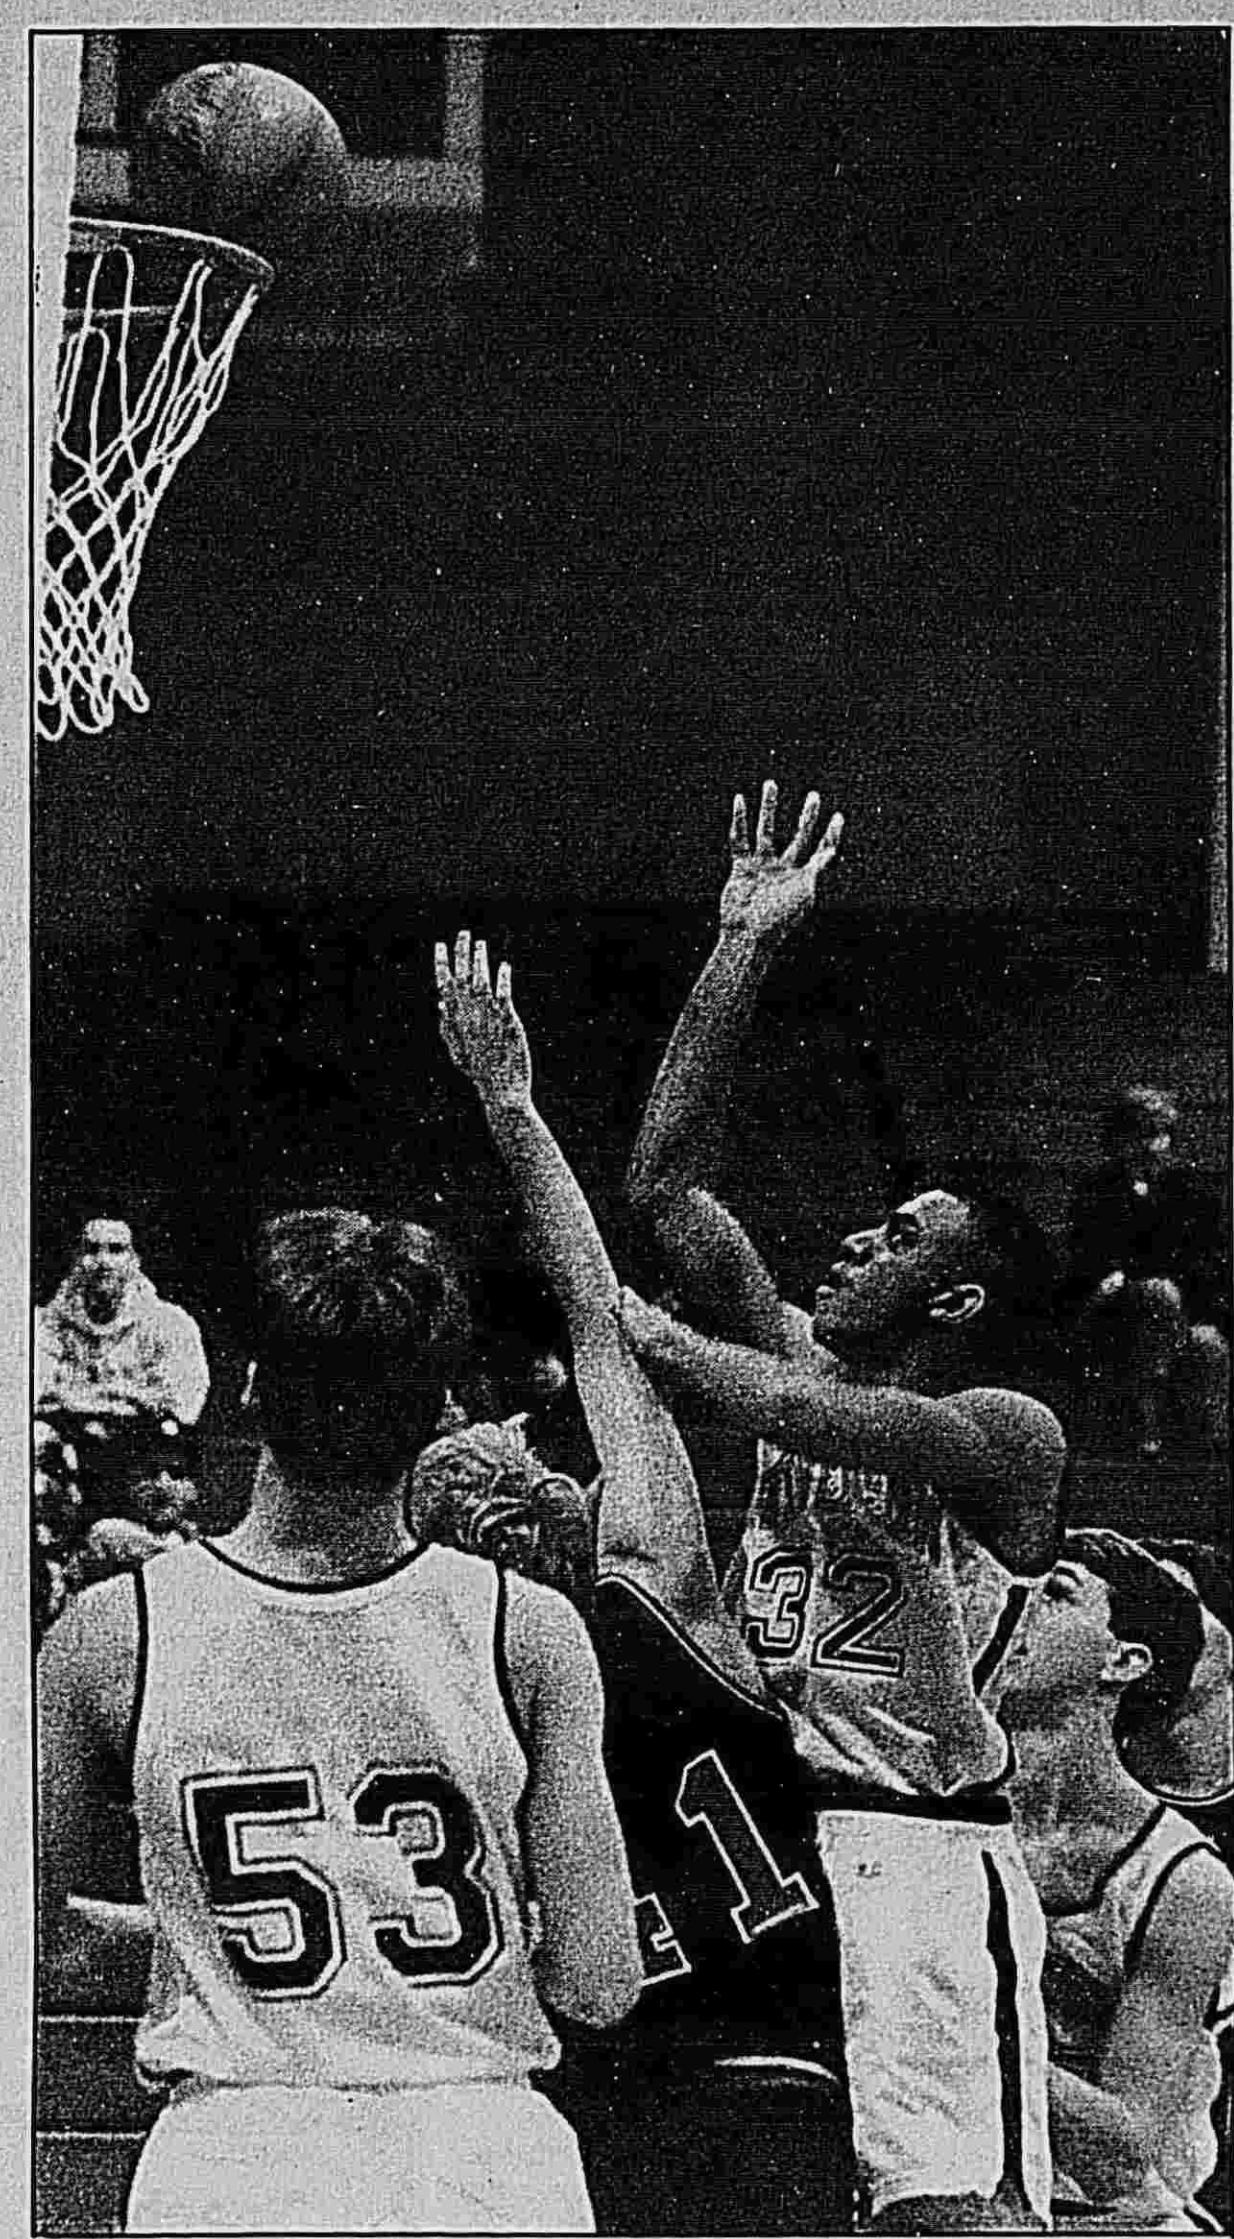

Center Bob Swanson, overcoming an elbow injury, was named all tournament and finished with 13 points. Guard Chris Knauf had 12 points and had two of Round Lake's five fourth-quarter free throws (in 12 attempts) which allowed the Panthers to stay ahead.

Round Lake's biggest lead came at 38-19 on a basket by John Leslie (eight points).

Cary held Round Lake scoreless for the remainder of the third and got back into the game, trailing by 11 after three.

The Panthers had downed Barrington 58-47 after losing to eventual tourney champ Mundelein 71-44. Swanson led with 20 points and Knauf had 18.

Lancers may have to wait for first Skyway contests

College of Lake County men's basketball team may be having a longer Christmas break than planned.

The Lancers were scheduled to host Truman Jan. 4, but the Falcons and Wright have dropped out of the Skyway Conference, according to CLC mentor Bruce Smith.

"The league is trying to find new teams for next year," Smith said.

Semi-pro Knights distribute honors

Lake County Knights semi-pro football team distributed awards at a team banquet in Lincolnshire.

Receiving awards were Dan Halverson, of Wauconda, and Steve Meyer from Palatine to the National All Star team and Greg Freeman from Great Lakes, honorable mention. There were more than 8,000 nominations from the 212 semi-pro football teams across the nation.

The Chicagoland Football League awards went to Halverson, most valuable defensive player and Meyer, most valuable rookie. All stars from the CFL were Randy Jones of Waukegan, Tony Simpson of Evanston and Kevin Amidei of Palatine.

Halverson, Meyer and John Burns of Mundelein played in the all star game. The CFL stars downed Team USA 33-17. Team USA plays games in Europe and in the international league.

Interviews on player and coaching positions are continuing throughout the winter months. For more information about the Knights, call 223-5231.

Antioch boys win close one, but settle for split in tourney

Antioch High's boys basketball team was looking for some more offense as the Sequoits concluded play at the Rockford Christmas Classic.

The Sequoits earned their third win of the year with a 42-41 win over Rockford Guilford but had to settle for a split against Rockford teams with a 45-41 loss to Rockford Auburn.

"We played pretty well defensively, but we have to average more than 42 points per game," Antioch Coach Jeff Dresser said.

In the one-point win, Eric Eckenstahler had 11 and Dan Newcomb eight. Two free throws by junior guard Dave Smith sealed the win.

"We held our own on the rebounds and that was good to see," Dresser said.

Antioch led 11-5 after one, 25-14 at halftime. Antioch hit a slump in the third, outscored 15-5.

"We had a great first half, but could not get anything going in the second," Dresser said.

Newcomb, a six-foot, three inch center, led the way in the win with 20 points against Auburn. Junior Eckenstahler had 18 points, 15 rebounds and eight blocked shots.

Newcomb was 10-for-16, Eckenstahler 6-for-10 from the field.

"They posted up in the middle and did a nice job," Dresser said.

Antioch led 14-10 after one, but Auburn won the second and third stanzas.

Antioch was ahead by four in the fourth quarter. "We were right with them. But we had four straight trips in which we could not get it to go down," Dresser said.

Dixon was the third tourney foe for Antioch Wednesday.

Antioch (3-6) comes back with Grant (8-5) in an away non-conference game Jan. 4. The Bulldogs, defending Northwest Suburban Conference champs, are led by 6-5 Kurt Filiatreault and Mike Ingram. They finished fifth at Jacobs.

North Suburban play resumes Jan. 7 at Lake Forest and Jan. 8 at Stevenson.

Deadline extended

The registration deadline for the Lake County Family YMCA Boys High School Basketball League has been extended. League play will begin Jan. 8, 1994. All registration forms and team rosters must be in the YMCA no later than Jan. 4. For more information, contact Becky at 360-9622.

Honor Shea

Antioch High wrestler Mike Shea, left, receives congratulations from Carl McWherter, First Chicago Bank of Antioch. Shea was honored for winning four matches and placing first at Stagg wrestling tourney. Bowler Lisa Anderson was also congratulated.

Carmel girls notch victory, woes continue for Grant

Carmel High notched its second win of the year while Grant's girls team is still looking for that elusive second victory.

Carmel downed Josephinum 58-32 to open play at St. Viator. Grant dropped two at Crystal Lake Central, 64-36 to the host tigers and 59-42 to Rockford Auburn.

Erin Potempa led the way for Carmel with 21 points. Carmel led 17-6 at the outset and had a strong third quarter to improve to 2-5 overall.

The well-rested Corsairs received strong rebounding from Anne Zielinski with 10.

For Grant, the Bulldogs ran into an area powerhouse with Central (11-2).

"They have won nine in a row and only lost to Freeport and Glenbard North," Grant Coach John Schad said of the Tigers.

The Bulldogs were understaffed for the game, down to eight players available due to vacations and illness.

Kati Kline led the Bulldogs offensively, with 15 points against Central, 18 against Grant.

"She is starting to come into her own. She has a good jump shot," Schad said of Klein.

Debbie Fischer had nine against Auburn.

"Both teams dominated us on the boards. That was the biggest factor," Schad said.

Grant concluded play at the tournament against Addison Trail.

Northwest Suburban Conference play resumes Jan. 4 at Round Lake.

Meanwhile, top rated Stevenson keeps on marching along. Proviso West proved to be an easy obstacle at the Dundee-Crown Charger Classic with a 72-33 win.

The 13-0 Pats were led by Tamika Catchings with 19 points. Trish DeClark had 16. Rebecca Ford had 10. Danielle Mall 12.

Blitz rout BASA 8-0

The Lindenhurst Blitz (U-15) exploded for 5 goals in the second half to go on to a convincing 8-0 rout of Team BASA from Barrington.

The Blitz out-shot BASA 26-8, with outstanding defensive play from Tami Wright, Stacey Alberts, Nicki Kral and Jessica Haynes. Becca Bleyer and Carrie Gofron shared time in the nets earning the shut-out. The game was 3-0 at the end of the first half with goals by Stacie Morley (2) and Gofron (1) all unassisted.

But the second half saw a barrage of shots resulting in 5 goals. Second half goals were scored by Bleyer (2), Susan Woodruff (1), Haynes (1-from the center stripe) and Morley (1-her third goal of the game assisted by Bleyer).

A good performance was also turned in by Sondra Lorang, Robin Levy and Tammy Podborny. The Blitz have one more game to play next week at Popular Creek Sports Centre.

The Lindenhurst Power (U-13) were idle this week.

Carmel snakebitten at game thrillers

It could have been one of those storybook finishes.

"Senior's 7 points in clutch leads to win" the headlines could have read. But instead, it was just another tough loss to swallow, an 80-68 defeat at the hands of Atherton of Louisville, Ky., in triple overtime at the Kankakee holiday tournament.

Bob Glazik, a 6-foot, 2-inch senior forward scored 7 straight points to put the Corsairs on the verge of victory Monday. The Carmel team came within inches of a game-ending steal. But instead, Atherton made a tip-in at the buzzer in the second overtime.

The third overtime was all the team from the Bluegrass state. It outscored Carmel 12-0 including 7-for-7 from the free throw line.

"It was one of those games we could have won," Carmel Coach Ben Berg said.

Landen Rose, who eventually fouled out, led the Corsairs with 17 points. Glazik had 15. "He did a nice job," Berg said of Glazik.

Brian Buckingham had 10 before suffering an ankle injury.

Carmel had four three-point shots, but was outgunned at the free-throw line 20-14.

The two teams were tied 16-16 after one. Atherton dominated the second stanza 16-8 and won the third but Carmel (3-7) rallied with a 23-point fourth quarter.

Carmel dropped to the losers bracket and faced

Argo and Carver, Dec. 28.

The Corsairs failed to come up with a win in either of those games as well.

Paul Fritsch, Tom Drennan and Dan Stasick led the Corsairs tipping-in 11 points each for the team which started out strong.

Carmel went neck-in-neck with Argo in the first two quarters with each team scoring 15 in the first period of play and Carmel outscoring Argo 15-10 in the second quarter. Following half-time Argo out-gunned the Corsairs 26-11 and 28-14 in the third and fourth quarters leading to a 79-55 Argo win.

Against Carver, Carmel again started strong scoring 14 and 11 points in the first two quarters to Carver's 9 and 11 respectively. Again the Corsairs failed to connect following the half-tossing in only 4 and 13 points in the remaining two quarters while Carver scored 14 and 26. The result was a 67-42 defeat for the Corsairs.

High scorers for the team against Carver were Stasick with 18 and Rose with 10.

"We had a lot of guys contribute off the bench in the Carver game," Berg said. "Pettis Kent, Rick Koseor and Pat Kraft all put in a good effort. We are at the point now where we are struggling a bit. We lost the last four in a row but we're looking to turn things around."

Carmel was to meet Rantoul in the final game of the Kankakee Tournament Wednesday night.

Rams gain confidence, 5th place trophy at McHenry

When it came down to fourth quarter crunch time, Jennie Dunbar and Julie Duchane delivered for the Grayslake Rams girls basketball team and the end result was some nice-looking team hardware from the McHenry holiday tournament.

Dunbar extended a slim Rams lead to 7 points and finished with 19 while Duchane had 18 in a 44-40 win over Geneva. The victory made it two-out-of-three for the 5-6 Rams and meant the fifth-place trophy.

"Conditioning was pretty good. It was a big key for us," Coach Paul Missavage said.

"Dunbar was all over the floor, but everyone played pretty hard," Missavage said.

Six Rams were out with the flu, including starters Kelly Roberts and Amy Artlet. Sheila and Shellie Slove and Megan Jeffrey all stepped up and contributed. "They played with poise and did a good job," the coach said.

"What we try to do is come together as a team and support each other more. We have some personality conflicts. Especially around Christmastime, our big theme today was peace on the team," Missavage said. "It's nice to get a trophy."

"We showed we have patience and on our offense it works," Dunbar said.

"Julie Duchane did a real nice job on the boards. She took some rebounds down the stretch. Jessica (Corcoran) did, too," Missavage said.

Grayslake entered the fourth quarter ahead by 5, but upped it to 7 on a bucket by Duchane. Dunbar connected on a 3-point shot to increase the lead to 35-28 following two Geneva free throws.

Baskets by Duchane kept the lead at 3 and 4 points.

"We needed a win. We came in at 3-5, now we are 5-6. We have gained a little 'Condition was pretty good. It was a big key for us. Dunbar was all over the floor, but everyone played pretty hard.'

— Paul Missavage,
Rams girls coach

bit of confidence. That was a well-fought game all the way through and that was good for us," Missavage said.

Grayslake had downed Chicago Mather for its fourth win.

The Rams were outscored 11-6 from the free-throw line, an area the team will address before the next Northwest Suburban Conference game at home against Johnsburg. The Skyhawks come into the Jan. 4 game one-half game ahead of the Rams.

Basic breakdowns bring on problems for Bulldogs

by STEVE PETERSON

Lakeland Newspapers

Basketball coaches like to say they are seeing improvement on their team regardless of the won-loss record.

Grant boys coach Tom Maple is hoping the new year brings renewed interest in the x's and o's as season-long problems continued in a 57-47 loss to Cary-Grove at Jacobs.

"They kept waiting for us to beat them. They waited the whole last half and half of the fourth quarter for us to put something together. We did not take advantage of it," Maple said.

Grant, like it did in a 21-point loss to Grayslake, had a double digit lead in the first quarter. Passes were working like perfection off the offense. Mike Ingram had 10 points at halftime, but only finished with 12. Dan Dunleavy had 10 at halftime as well, and finished with 16. Eight of Kurt Filiatreault's 11 points came in the first 16 minutes.

Grant's biggest margin was 10 points twice, once on a basket off an out-of-bounds play by Dave Stone. The other, an outside jumper by Ingram, gave the Bulldogs a 31-21 lead. But Cary put on a 12-1 run in the final three minutes of the second quarter which ended Cary ahead by one.

Brad Steele led the winners with 15 points.

"We don't seem to understand basic basketball. We do not throw it to the open man, but we try and force it to someone who is not open. We try and front someone who is 14 feet from the basket," Maple said.

Dunleavy has been shooting well. "He had his moments, but he had his breakdowns, too. We seem to think if someone gets their points, they had a good game. You have to play the whole game," Maple said.

The Bulldogs have had teams with lesser natural talent win 15-17 games because of their knowledge of basics, Maple said.

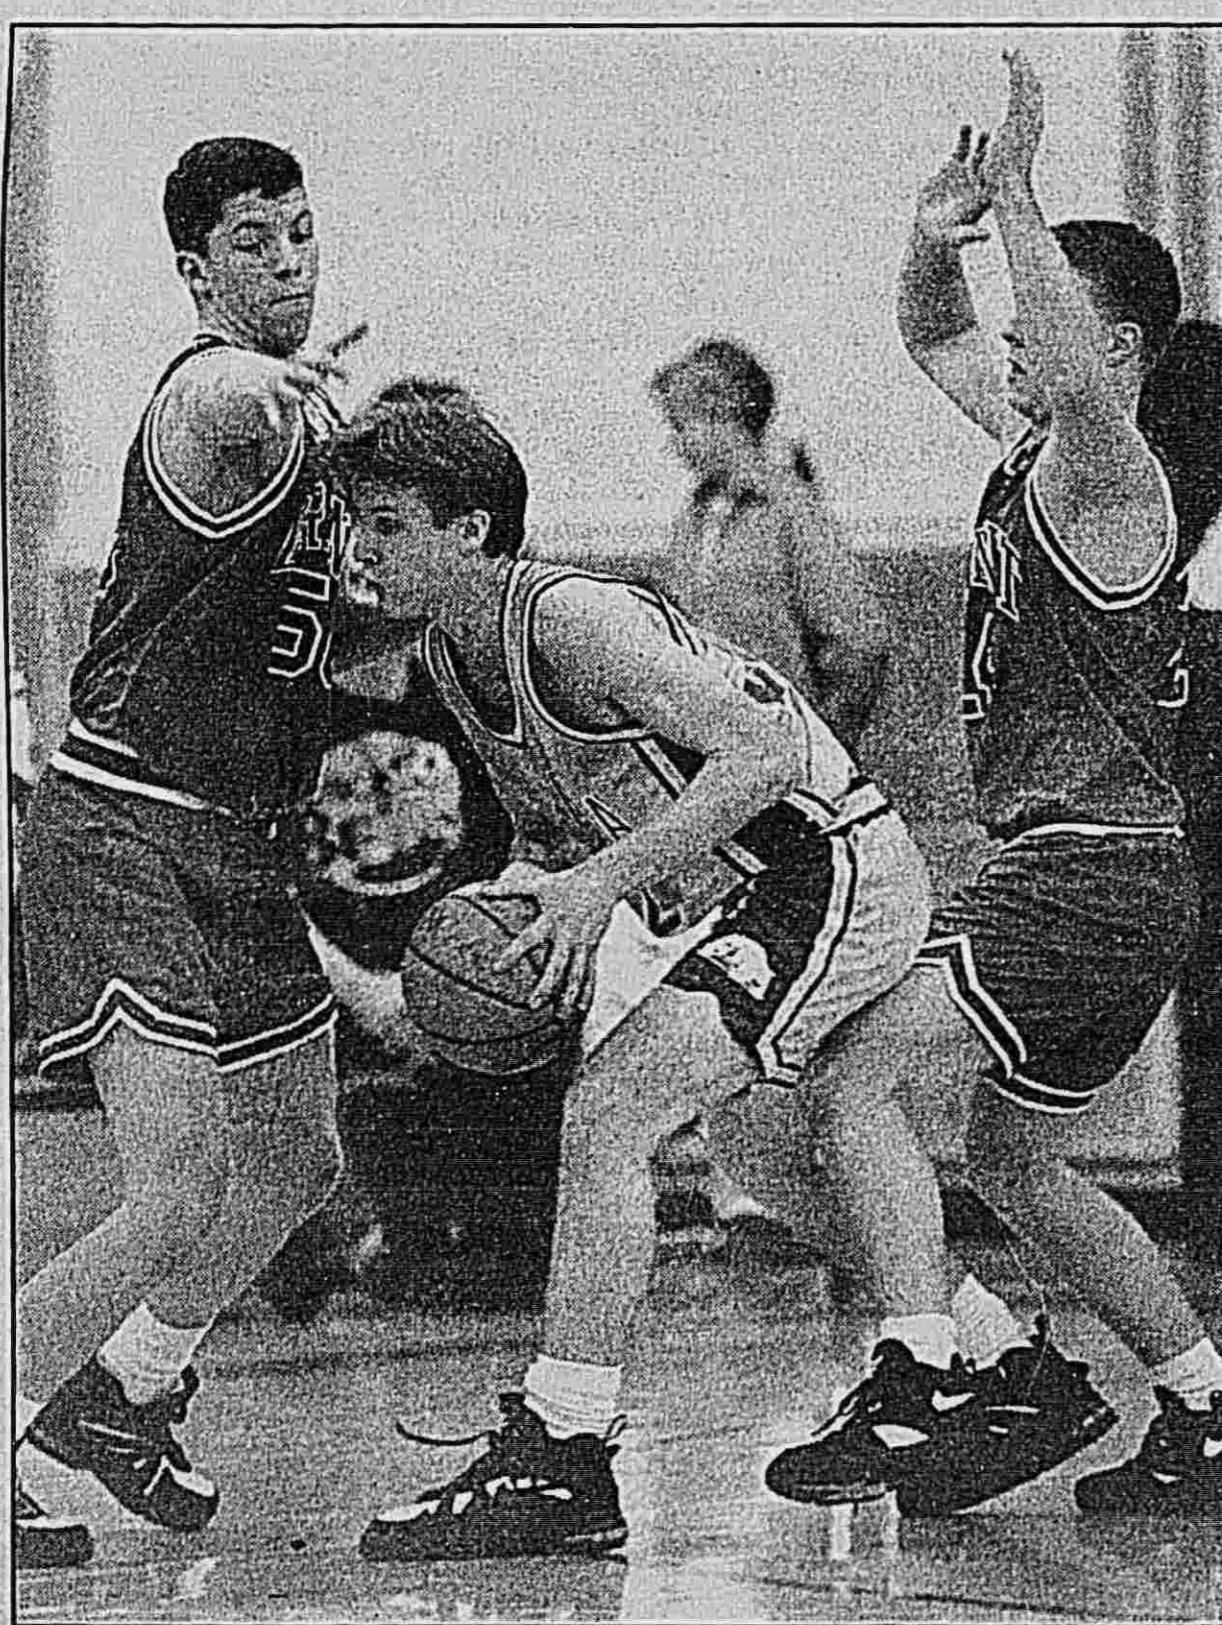

The difference between the first half and second was obvious to Maple.

"We ran things in the first half. I called a time-out so we would run something against their full court pressure. It is disappointing to have basic skills on offense and have kids who are unaware of other points. They seem to practice well when I am on the floor telling them what to do. They lose their organization when I am on the bench. It is something I cannot put my finger on," Maple said.

Grant led at the outset of the fourth on a Dunleavy hoop with 7:13 left. The Bulldogs, who still maintained a winning record after the loss, did not score for more than two minutes after their second fourth quarter field goal.

Cary took the lead for good on a steal and lay-up by Kevin Koosistra. The Trojans, ahead by seven, made three free throws and sealed the win.

Grant's predicament could be seen in a final-minute play. Grant, without an outside shooter, was being pressured by the Cary-Grove defense. The final margin came on a steal and lay-up.

Team effort from seniors, newcomers leads Bulldogs

Beginning a wrestling season with five seniors is a good way to ensure a strong start.

And when a team adds contributions from the rest of the roster, look out.

Grant has done just that in amassing a 9-2 dual record. The latest win was a 42-16 decision at Jacobs Tuesday.

"We started slowly at the Barrington tournament, but the five seniors are solid and the other kids are starting to fill in," Grant coach Dave Kapraun said.

The Bulldogs' records are impressive at mid-season. Aaron Butler is 12-4 at 145 pounds; Sean Powers, last year's state qualifier, is 13-2 at 189; Mark Schweiss is 12-4 at 142; Matt Warmowski is 9-4 at heavyweight.

Underclassmen contributing in the win at Jacobs were: Junior Don Bridgeman with a pin at 140 pounds; sophomore Jamie Beese with a decision at 152; Mike June, a soph, with a decision at 112.

"It has not been just five guys, it has been everybody," Kapraun, a first-year coach, said.

Jason Alex started matters off on the right foot for the Bulldogs with an 11-3 win at 103; senior Ron Bogseth improved to 14-2 with a pin at 119; Ryan Benson won by decision at 135.

Sean Powers

Powers and Warmowski capped the victory with wins at 189 and heavyweight.

Grant bowlers show steady progress with two victories

And a sophomore shall lead them.

Grant High's bowling team was led by sophomore Cherie Blandford as the Bulldogs beat Grayslake 2,166 to 1,979.

Blandford was the high series with a 495. She had games of 167, 160 and 168.

"She has improved tremendously over last year," Grant Coach Ted Johnson said.

Blandford and Lynne Havens, a junior, are contributing to the varsity after being on the junior varsity last year.

"We had a total team effort," Johnson said of the Grayslake match. The win gained the Bulldogs revenge for an earlier loss.

Senior Stacy McBreen, Grant's only experienced bowler, led the way as Grant challenged state ranked Antioch but lost 2,392-2,200. McBreen had a high series of 598. She had games of 205, 190 and 203.

"The bowling Bulldogs are steadily improving,"

Johnson said.

Grant (2-4) downed Stevenson 2,006 to 1,919. McBreen led the effort.

"We are 2-4, but we could easily be 4-2," Johnson said.

The Bulldogs and Grayslake are both at the Jacobs tournament Jan. 8 after completing the season series Jan. 6.

Fox Lake firefighter rescues seeing-eye dog Josh

by TINA L. SWIECH
Lakeland Newspapers

"It may have saved the dog's life," said Fox Lake resident Ed Aughinbaugh of his seeing eye canine "Josh."

For an hour and 1/2, four village officials worked diligently to get the entwined leg of a blind couple's German Shepherd out of the steel grip of a wrought iron chair.

The freak accident in which Josh's rear leg was caught in the curls of the kitchen table seat awoke Peggy and Ed Aughinbaugh, when they heard the whining of Josh and the yelps of their fox terrier, Michael.

According to Grant Township

Supervisor Gordy Kiesgen, a friend of the family, Peggy called him up on the phone and didn't know what to do.

"I started crying cause I thought for sure his leg was broke," explained Peggy.

Kiesgen told her to call the police. Within minutes some of Fox Lake's best, Officer Tom Olson and Officer Rich Good came to the rescue along with Kiesgen, but "you couldn't move him at all," said the supervisor.

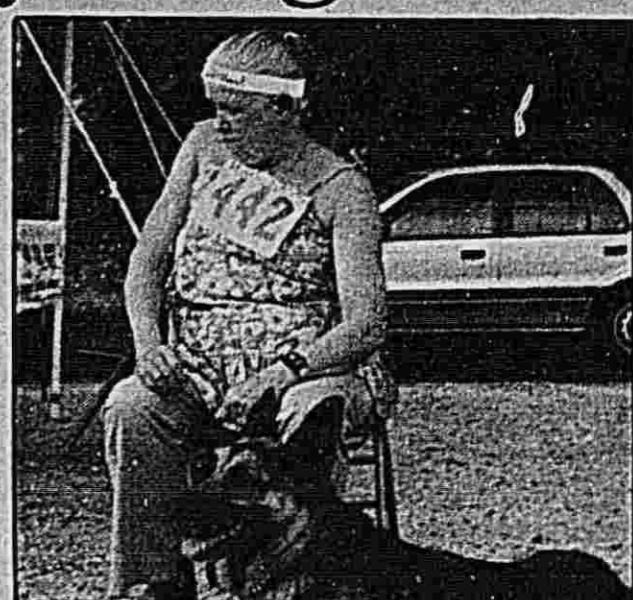

So the Fox Lake Fire and Rescue Department was contacted and soon Firefighter Jim Dinwiddie was on hand to help.

With a hacksaw and a pair of channel locks, Josh was set free. But he was still in pain and limping. Fox Lake Animal Hospital Veterinarian Dr. Bohdan Rudawski was contacted and he met the officers along with Peggy at the clinic by 11 p.m.

The Vet checked the 7-year-old shepherd out, and fortunately found no broken bones, according to the owners. But since the dog was slightly injured in the ordeal, he is currently on antibiotics three times a day, said Peggy.

Although Ed uses a cane to get around most of the time, Peggy relies heavily on Josh for his guidance each day to and from her job into Chicago where she works at the Lighthouse for the Blind, as well as for everyday traveling.

Ways to beat heart attacks

Now more than ever, people are concerned about their hearts. It is not surprising, considering that heart attacks and other heart-related diseases have been the country's biggest killer.

According to one expert, there are six main risk factors related to heart disease: Age, family history, smoking, raised blood pressure, blood cholesterol level and diabetes.

Dr. Gordon Jackson, a practicing heart specialist and consultant to a number of London hospitals, elaborates.

"People in their 50s and 60s are much more prone to problems. And if one of your parents or siblings has suffered a heart attack, then you have a greater-than-average risk."

"Smoking is a major cause of heart attacks and strokes, and the easiest to deal with. You cannot change your age or your family history, but you can stop smoking."

"Blood pressure is one of the major indicators of risk and is particularly important as a predictor of strokes, but it is a relatively easy condition to treat."

"There is a cholesterol level below which heart problems are least likely to occur, but unfortunately this level is well below the average in Western countries."

"Finally, if you are a diabetic, then you do have an increased risk."

So how can we possibly beat the dreaded heart disease?

Dr. Jackson says that while we can't hope to prevent heart attacks completely, there is good evidence to suggest that it is possible to make a dramatic reduction in personal heart attack risk, merely by making comparatively minor changes in lifestyle.

Here are eight ways he suggest you can do that:

1. Have your blood pressure checked regularly. Keeping slim, exercising, eating fruit and vegetables for their potassium content, and cutting down drastically on your salt intake will help to keep your blood pressure down.

2. Cut out all fried foods (grill them instead), avoid too much cheese and dairy food, and especially avoid very fat meat and meat products such as sausages, burgers, etc. Switch to less fatty fish and poultry instead of red meat wherever possible.

3. Use polyunsaturated vegetable fats and cook in oil instead of butter or animal fats.

4. Increase your intake of fiber in your diet. Increasing carbohydrates will automatically increase fiber. Some people will still worry that eating a lot of starchy foods will lead to obesity. Too much of any food can do that, but since carbohydrates contain just under half as much energy as fatty food, the way to lose weight is to avoid fat.

Different types of bread contain different amounts of fiber. White bread is richer in fiber than you think, but whole-grain breads may contain up to 150 percent more per slice.

5. Drink less alcohol. People who drink small amounts of alcohol are actually at lower risk of coronaries and strokes than even non-drinkers. But overdo it and all kinds of weight and heart problems are activated.

6. Don't smoke. It not only damages the lungs, it makes the pulse beat faster, narrows the arteries, reduces vital oxygen to the blood and strains the heart. Eighty percent of the coronary death rate of men under the age of 50 can be blamed on smoking alone. The risk of heart disease for the smoker is much greater than the risk of lung cancer. If you are not prepared to give up the habit then you are obviously not serious about the risk of a heart attack.

7. Do exercise, but nothing highly strenuous, especially if you are over 40 and haven't exercised in years. Do the kind of exercise that trains the lungs and the heart rather than that which increases muscle strength, i.e. walking, running, swimming and cycling. Home exercise machines are fine, but tend to be boring and people give up easily. Join an exercise group—it's an excellent way to work out. Forget the elevator—walk up stairs; do some gardening; get off the bus a stop or two early and walk the rest of the way.

8. Don't let yourself get overweight. You have a better life expectancy if you are slim than significantly overweight. Tests have shown that in men, a waist measurement larger than the hip measurement implies an increased risk of a heart attack.

Home safety checklist for seniors

Household mishaps rank second only to highway accidents as a cause of accidental death in the U.S. And nearly 10,000 adults age 65 or older die each year from accidents in the home. According to "The World Book/Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center Medical Encyclopedia," falls are the leading cause of accidental death at home among those 65 or older, followed by fires and burns. Here are some of the safety tips for seniors offered.

Around the house

- Install smoke detectors; replace batteries every year.
- Keep fire extinguishers in the workshop, kitchen and garage.
- Make sure all stairways are well lit.
- Keep a medical encyclopedia or first-aid guide available in case of accidental injuries.

Kitchen

- Never use a chair, table or box as a ladder. Use a small ladder or step stool, and, if possible, have someone hold it for you. Store heavy objects on low shelves.
- If you use floor wax, buff the wax surface thoroughly or use a nonskid product to make the floor less slippery.

Bathroom

- Use a rubber mat or adhesive-backed appliques in the bathtub or shower stall and install a sturdy handrail on the wall over the tub. Use only nonskid rugs in the bathroom and throughout the house; avoid small throw rugs.
- Because of the possibility of error, never take medications in a dark room.

- Don't take medicine prescribed for someone else, and throw out old medications.
- Never bring a portable heater into the bathroom; never use a hairdryer near the bathtub.

Bedroom

- Set central heating in the bedroom at a temperature low enough to prevent a burn if the radiator is accidentally touched.
- Don't hang clothes to dry over a portable heater or place a heater near curtains, and never dim a lamp by covering it with clothes. Discard electric blankets if their electrical parts become worn or broken, and never smoke in bed.
- Make sure that carpets or other floor coverings are in good repair. Watch for loose rugs on a polished floor.

The garage and the yard

- Keep the garage well ventilated, and never smoke in the garage.
- Keep barbecues away from combustible materials, and never leave fires unattended.
- Secure ladders and sharp tools to prevent them from falling, and never leave lawn and garden tools lying around.
- Keep outside steps clean, adequately lit and in good condition.

Save your sight—see an ophthalmologist

"Half of all blindness is preventable. True or false?" asks Bob Hope, honorary chair of Eye Care Month, January, 1994, sponsored by the American Academy of Ophthalmology and the Optic Foundation.

"It's true. And blindness can come without warning, no symptoms at all," says the world famous comedian. The best way to make sure your eyes are healthy, Hope says, is to have an examination by an ophthalmologist, a medical eye doctor.

Take the rest of this true/false quiz, and prepare to be surprised:

Reading in dim light is harmful to your eyes.

False. Using your eyes in dim light does not damage them. But good lighting does make reading easier and prevents eye fatigue.

Using computers can damage your eyes.

False. Working on computers will not harm your eyes. However, you can develop eye strain or fatigue after working at a terminal for long periods of time, just as you can from reading or doing other close work. Take regular breaks to look up or across the room. Looking at objects farther away usually relieves the strain on your eyes.

If your vision blurs or your eyes tire easily, you should have your eyes examined by an ophthalmologist.

Wearing the wrong kind of glasses hurts your eyes.

False. While the correct glasses or contacts help you see clearly, wearing a pair with the wrong lenses, or not wearing glasses at all, will not physically damage your eyes.

Children outgrow cross or misaligned eyes.

False. Children do not outgrow crossed eyes. A child whose eyes are misaligned will develop poor vision in one eye, because the brain will "turn off" the misaligned or "lazy" eye. If caught early, crossed or misaligned eyes may be straightened by glasses, patching, eye drops or surgery. Children who appear to have misaligned eyes should be examined by an ophthalmologist.

Eye trouble is the cause of learning disabilities.

False. There is no scientific evidence that eye trouble causes learning disabilities, or that eye exercises cure learning problems. However, all children should have a complete medical eye exam to determine whether they have a vision problem that may affect reading.

Sitting close to the television can damage children's eyes.

False. There is no evidence that this behavior damages the eyes, and the habit usually disappears as children grow older.

People who wear glasses should avoid reading fine print and doing detail work.

False. You can use your eyes without fear of "wearing them out."

All eye doctors are the same.

False. To become an ophthalmologist (MD or osteopath) requires eight years of medical school and hospital training after college. An ophthalmologist is a medical doctor qualified to provide all aspects of eye care, including vision care, diagnosis and treatment of eye disease and surgery.
